Test sites planned for new litter bins

COUNCILLORS are considering placing bins at test sites to discover whether they are used. Cannock Chase Council is looking at the move because of a shortage of cash for new ones.

Bosses say they get more requests for metal street bins than they can cope with. Now, under plans by environment chiefs, bins will have to be filled to at least a quarter of their capacity before they are made permanent. Existing bins will be removed if they fall below 25 per cent usage.

The council already provides 540 on-street bins, with just over 100 located in Cannock, Hednesford and Rugeley town centres.

The rest are at smaller shopping centres, outside neighbourhood shops, at play areas and other open spaces, bus stops and well-used footpaths. Further litter bins are provided in the council's formal parks.

The current budget is restricted to £3,000. And, with the cost of supplying a new bin, or replacing a damaged one set at £375, the council can only afford to provide eight new bins a year.

A trial period of six months has been recommended to test how well the bins are being used. A decision on whether to bring in the trials was being made today (Thursday).

Two charged over assault

TWO men were due in court yesterday (Wednesday) on charges of a serious assault in Cannock.

The incident happened at around 2.05am on Sunday at the rear of Poundland in the Backcroft area. The 20-year-old victim is still critical in the University Hospital of North Staffordshire.

Alistair Douglas, 24, of Longford Road, Cannock, and James Robb, 21, of Langdale Green, Cannock, were appearing before Cannock magistrates charged with section 18 assault – grievous bodily harm.

YOUTH CENTRES FACING THE AXE

Memorial mistake to fallen hero corrected

A MISTAKE on a war memorial has been corrected after it emerged that the spelling of a First World War fallen soldier was incorrect.

The mistake on the memorial in Cannock town centre was noticed by Paul Ford, an archivist with Walsall Council.

He had been researching the Watson family and spotted the name on the memorial was James E Watson, but should have been James G Watson.

Cannock Chase District Council updated the memorial with the correct name.

Mr Ford said: "My research has brought me very close to the Watson family so I am delighted that Cannock council have agreed to change the memorial."

"It shows their respect not only for a Cannock man that lost his life in the Great War but for a family that gave a lot to the local area."

Leader of the council, George Adamson, added: "The work that Paul has put into researching the Watson family history is fantastic."

"It is really important that we update the war memorial as this is an important piece of history."

Mr Ford was researching the Watson family after an autograph album was sent to Walsall Local History Centre. It belonged to Emily Watson, sister of Mr Watson, and dated back to 1900.

Retail complex up for auction

AN office, retail and leisure complex in Bridgtown is going up for auction with a guide price of £1.75m.

Lakeside Plaza property currently produces rent of £449,265 per year and will be sold at the Acuitus auction on March 27 at 1.30pm at the Millennium Hotel, London W1.

Auctioneer Richard Auterac said: "This is a well-located, well-lit building, and we're expecting very substantial investor interest."

Family puts heart into fundraising

Dave Betteridge, aged 47, of Rugeley, is recovering after a heart attack

A CHARITY has been set up to raise money for defibrillators after a Rugeley man's life was saved following a heart attack.

Father-of-two David Betteridge is continuing his recovery after undergoing a quadruple bypass operation last autumn.

The 47 year-old slumped to the floor moments after scoring while playing for his six-a-side football team.

His friends and team-mates Glyn Betts and Matt Inns, who are trained first aiders, rushed to help him and administered first aid until paramedics arrived.

Mr Betteridge who had been playing at the Erasmus Darwin Academy in Chasetown, was rushed to Walsall Manor Hospital and then underwent an operation at Wolverhampton's New Cross a month later.

Friends and family have now set up the David Betteridge Community Defibrillators charity which kicks off with a sponsored walk on Saturday. Around 50 people are expected to take part in the seven-mile-stroll from Rugeley Leisure Centre to the EDA from 9am.

The aim is to first raise funds for a defibrillator and then for causes elsewhere within the community.

The fundraising drive has been organised through Mr Betteridge's wife, Debbie, friend Matt and his brother's partner Sarah Page.

Mr Betteridge has been able to return to work at Rugeley Power Station and has not ruled out a return to his football team, The Trotters, who play on a Thursday evening.

This incredible heating could be the answer to help beat the ever increasing energy costs and amazingly, it is not, gas or oil, or solid fuel - but electric! It's clean, Simple to install, Powerful, Economical, and no more servicing costs - EVER! All you need is a normal electricity supply and a plug socket and NO standard tariff like economy seven.

In Germany, Austria, Eastern Europe and even America, more and more people are choosing to heat their homes and offices with this very special form of electric heating in preference to gas, oil, LPG or any other form of conventional central heating or economy seven.

The heating looks just like a conventional radiator, but STOP! It is very, very different!

Put simply, the chunky central heating boiler needing constant servicing and replacement parts isn't the only choice any more!

Now you can choose to heat your homes, offices, extensions or conservatories with this incredible German heating which provides individual control over every single room without the need for a central control or space to site a boiler. Now the boiler space can also become a storage area!

Installation takes minutes and running is completely clean, there is no danger of leakage, no holes through walls, no floorsboards up and no tradesmen trundling around the house welding pipe cutters, hammers, wrenches and dirty workboots. This incredible heating simply plugs in and that's it! Job Done! You can even do just one room or the whole house!

Prizes to be won in Easter art contest

YOUNGSTERS across Cannock Chase can win a special Easter egg or a goody bag in an art competition.

Bescot Promotions has joined forces with Cannock Chase Council to launch the contest for children aged 16 and under. All entrants need to do is draw a picture based on what Easter means to them. There will be 12 winners.

Entries should be posted to: Market Office, Cannock Chase Council, Civic Centre, PO Box 28, Beecroft Road, Cannock, WS11 1B before

Friday 4 April 2014. The winners' and runner-up's artwork will be displayed in Cannock Town Centre in the lead up to Easter.

Councillor Diane Todd, town centre regeneration leader, said: "This competition will be a great way of increasing footfall into Cannock town centre by encouraging families to visit the town and the displayed artwork."

"I would like to wish those who enter the best of luck."

For a full copy of the competition rules, visit www.cannockchasedc.gov.uk

Film club is given a Turbo booster

YOUNG film-lovers can enjoy family favourite Turbo at the next screening of Cannock's children's cinema club.

The 2013 computer-animated comedy features Ryan Reynolds as an ordinary garden snail who dreams of being the fastest in the world.

Organised by CreateChurch:Cannock, the CreateCinema:Club takes place on the last Saturday of the month from 10am to noon at the Electric Palace Picture House in Walsall Road.

Youngsters up to 11 can watch classic children's films on the big screen with their parents and carers, at a cost of just 50p each to cover refreshments.

Doors open at 10am when tea, coffee and squash will be available at no extra cost, with popcorn and other snacks also available.

Tickets for Turbo will be available on the door on Saturday, March 29.

The family-friendly CreateChurch:Cannock meets every Sunday from 10am at the Electric Palace Picture House.

Administration costs could rise to £15mPub's ale hits the Casque Mark

Andrea and Mark Rogers have pulled in the punters at the Hazelslade Inn

THE LICENSEES of an established village pub have been awarded the Casque Mark accreditation for the quality of its beer.

Andrea and Mark Rogers have transformed the Hazelslade Inn in Rugeley Road, since taking over their first pub just 18 months ago.

Mark, aged 49, a builder from Bloxwich, said: "I built our own house in Hazel Slade and lived here for five years so the pub was our local. We've had a revamp and we are getting some of the regulars back as well as some new faces."

The Casque Mark accreditation was awarded following two unannounced visits over eight weeks. Beers were tested for temperature, appearance, aroma and taste and all criteria had to be met.

Built in the 1850s, the Hazelslade Inn is owned by Punch Taverns and is the ninth pub in the Cannock area to reach the Cask Marque standard.

Woman in 20s struck by car

A WOMAN was airlifted to hospital after being knocked down by a car outside a supermarket in Cannock.

A Vauxhall Meriva was involved in a collision with a woman in her 20s in Avon Road, near Asda, at around 1.55pm on Monday.

Police, an ambulance, a paramedic and the Midlands Air Ambulance from Cosford were called. The helicopter landed at the nearby St Mary's Primary School.

The woman, who suffered facial injuries, was airlifted to the University Hospital of North Staffordshire. Police closed a section of road and redirected traffic.

Forum meeting

RESIDENTS in Hedgesford will be able to have their say at a community forum meeting next month. Councillors and local police officers will be at The Lightworks in Market Street, from 3pm on Friday, April 4. For information email Clare.Evans@staffordshire.pnn.police.uk

Pupils in Paris visit given talk on Europe

SIXTH formers from Penkridge visited France to learn all about the issues currently facing Europe.

Around 30 pupils from Wolgarston High School went along to the Your Future in Europe event. They spent three nights in Paris, attending numerous conferences.

One was entitled Focus on Business as was held at the Palais de Congrès.

One speaker told how he had set up his business and the ways in which he advertised and marketed it in order to make it a success. Another speaker explained the dos and don'ts of advertising.

Another conference featured a talk by Dragons' Den host Evan Davis.

The teenagers also took time out to do some sightseeing and they enjoyed a cruise down the River Seine.

Year 12 student Amy Jupp said: "We went up Tour Montparnasse and saw an amazing view of Paris. At night the Eiffel Tower would not only be lit up but would sparkle as well."

The Cannock Road school's learning resources centre administrator Sarah Roberts said the students had a "fabulous time" and "learned so much".

Coffee time at trust base

NATURE lovers can have a cuppa and raise conservation cash tomorrow (Friday).

Staffordshire Wildlife Trust is staging one of its popular coffee mornings to raise money for the charity at its Wolsley Centre HQ.

As well as hot drinks, visitors can also enjoy locally-made cakes, jams, plants and second hand books from 10am to noon.

Alison Rhodes, visitor centre manager said: "This is the perfect way for people to help local wildlife."

Admission is £1 which includes a drink. Call 01889 880100 for more details.

Arrest is made

A MAN has been arrested in connection with a spate of thefts from vehicles in Norton Canes. A 33-year-old West Midlands man was charged with two offences and has asked for a further 11 to be taken into consideration. Property worth £3,500 was recovered.

Mum's the word in search for star parent

THE public is being asked to vote for Cannock Shopping Centre's Star Mum. The Star Awards were launched by the shopping centre last year and have already seen a Star Grandparent, Christmas Star and Young Sports Star crowned.

A shortlist of three has now been drawn up for the Star Mum award – and residents are being urged to vote for their favourite.

In line for the award are Susie Morris, nominated for her strength, courage and determination. She has proved to be a rock to not only her daughter, Alicia, but also to her husband, who nominated her, and their family.

Alicia was born prematurely and due to several medical complications remained in hospital for the week following her birth. Despite the pain that Susie was suffering, she never left her daughter's side.

Alicia, now aged two, has since had several operations to fix a hole in her heart and Susie has remained the pillar of strength throughout.

Julie Turner was nominated by her two daughters, Lauren and Kirsty because of her kind heart and her ability to keep smiling throughout any of life's obstacles.

She cares for not only her children, but their father who is unwell and also looked after their grandmother when she was diagnosed with cancer in November 2012. Although she passed away in August last year, Julie remained strong for her family throughout.

The third nomination is for Vivien Fereday. Her son Stephen Crutchley put her name forward because of her selflessness and commitment to helping others.

Vivien has worked at a local residential home for more than 15 years. Stephen said through good times and the bad he had always been loved and cared for.

Shopping Centre manager Natal Chapman said: "We were so moved by all the nominations that we received for the Star Mum award. There are certainly some wonderful mothers out there and we are delighted to be able to recognise even just a few as Star Mums."

Voting forms are available at selected stores and the deadline is March 23.

Family forced out after spiders found in bananas

A HEDNESFORD family was forced to flee their home and have it fumigated after hundreds of spiders were found – in a bunch of bananas.

Shocked dad Jamie Roberts, aged 31, spotted white patches covering the yellow fruit after he put them in a bowl but assumed it was mould.

On closer inspection, he realised the fruit was infested with a spider nest containing hundreds of the insects.

Mr Roberts, who suffers from arachnophobia, and his wife Crystal, 30, rang pest controllers who advised them to leave their home immediately.

The couple, along with their two children Georgina, seven, and five-year-old Joshua, left their home in Hednesford on Monday, February 24.

Pest controllers spent 24 hours fumigating their home but the family were only allowed back three days later after the toxic vapours used to kill the spiders had cleared.

Phobia
The spiders have not been officially identified.

Mr Roberts, a civil servant, said: "It was terrifying and especially for me because I have a phobia of spiders."

"We bought the bananas from the local shop and there were in a fruit bowl on the windowsill in the kitchen."

"One day I picked one up because it looked mouldy because it had white patches on it."

"I noticed the white patches were all over the windowsill and the curtains and I could see tiny legs and realised they were spiders."

"At that point, I wasn't too concerned because I thought they looked dead."

"I was scared out but I started to sweep the patches

by Dave Ballinger

into the bin but then they all started moving. It was like something out of a horror film because suddenly the windowsill was moving with hundreds of these spiders."

"My wife and I rang the shop where we bought them and they asked us to drop them round to them."

"When we did they called pest control and they told us to get out of the house."

Mrs Roberts, who works for HMRC, bought the pack of bananas from the OneStop store near their home.

She said: "I unpacked the bananas from the cellophane wrapper and put it in the bin so it's possible the 'queen spider' may have been in there."

A OneStop spokesman said: "As soon as our customer contacted us about this issue we took all necessary precautions, including organising pest control to visit the house and arranging for our customer and his family to stay in a hotel while the fumigation took place."

"We'd like to reassure all our customers that such instances are extremely rare and we are carrying out a thorough investigation into how this happened."

A sample of the insect has been sent to Natural History Museum experts for tests.

The OneStop shop in Hednesford put the family up in a hotel and is now carrying out an investigation

IMAGINE, a few years from now, a Spanish-speaking Texas decides to quit the United States and become a member of the European Union. SCIENTISTS in Denmark say the ecology of European forests could be greatly improved by reintroducing rhinos, elephants and bison. Before "re-wilding" with the real things, why not follow the example of the new town of Milton Keynes when it first introduced its inner-city overspill residents to dangerous-looking beasts such as cows? After MK's concrete friesians, bring on the concrete rhinos.

IN ITS own little way, the Ash Wednesday edition of Thought for the Day (Radio 4) was as significant as Moses bringing down the tablets or Martin Luther falling out with the Vatican. It featured a prominent Anglican priest announcing there is no life after death. You pop your clogs and that's it, folks. You might imagine in the Lenten build-up to Easter that Canon Angela Tilby would offer a few words about the empty tomb, the risen Lord, the life everlasting and all that stuff. Nope. Her message was that we come from dust and go to dust, that death is "the loss of everything" and "we are all afraid of death and its finality." I wonder how many Christians were listening to their radios and whispering: "Yes, but . . ." waiting for something a wee bit more positive and, dare I say it, religious from the canon. Instead, they got a three-minute lecture that Richard Dawkins would have been proud to deliver. If this is what passes for religion these days, it doesn't leave much room for us atheists, does it?

REPORTS that angry people are more likely to have heart attacks and strokes is another example of experts rediscovering the bleedin' obvious. The Victorians knew all about apoplexy. I had a great-uncle who died of it while swearing at the snow for daring to fall on his car. Those of us blessed with high blood pressure know all about keeping cool. It's just that reports like this make us so infernally, diabolically, incandescently angry. Now, now, calm . . .

WHEN you hear the name Steve McQueen do you think of a) the director of the Oscar-winning movie 12 Years a Slave or b) Frank Bullitt, the coolest detective ever to scream through the streets of San Francisco in a Ford Mustang? It's a generation thing.

IN Mind the Gap (BBC2) Evan Davis explains why London is steadily growing apart from the rest of Britain. The commonest response to images of stressed-out Londoners swarming sweatily in the Tube or cycling to their deaths in clouds of carbon monoxide is to demand some of that wonderful growth for the rest of the nation. London works only because of one vast metropolis-wide delusion, namely that Londoners are the cleverest, richest, most fashionable and most talented people in the land. Frankly, I'd rather live where the traffic is calmer, the air purer, the growth less frightening. If 10 million worker ants in the biggest termite nest in the world are happy to contribute their taxes to the UK's national good, I'll cheerfully take my share.

Salesman fined over unroadworthy car

THE director of a car company unwittingly sold an unroadworthy vehicle that could have caused the driver to lose control, a court heard.

David Van Lachterop admitted at Stafford magistrates court supplying an unroadworthy Fiat Ulysse which was not fit to drive.

The 45-year-old, who owns Rapidbuy, a car sales business in Park Plaza, Cannock, sold the 10-year-old vehicle worth £2,000 in July last year. Mr Khalid Mahmood, prosecuting, said the car had been bought by Van Lachterop then sold to a Mr and Mrs Lynch.

He said: "Mrs Lynch encountered problems with the air conditioning and noticed a 'knocking' noise and took it back to the garage."

"A spare wheel was tightened to allegedly stop the noise and the air conditioning was fixed but on July 20, Mrs Lynch was driving her friends to Wales and the knocking noise was still there.

"On August 10 the car had to be recovered after the engine mount failed."

"The vehicle was not roadworthy and travelling at speed could have caused the cam belt to fail and a loss of control," said Mr Mahmood.

Van Lachterop admitted selling an unroadworthy motor vehicle and was ordered to pay £689.25 and his company £2,000 compensation and £2,441.25 costs.

Mr Steven Lee, defending, said Van Lachterop, of Stowe Croft Road, Lichfield, admitted the vehicle was not roadworthy but he had not attempted to sell a defective car.

He added: "The vehicle had just had an MOT and was checked by a trained mechanic. He sold the car in good faith and he is a man that prides himself on after sale service."

Views on AONB are sought in survey

BUSINESSES and the public are being asked what they value most about Cannock Chase AONB and its most important features.

Cannock Chase was designated as an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty in 1958. The Cannock Chase AONB Partnership is now developing a maintenance plan and is looking for responses online.

Emma Beaman, assistant AONB officer, said: "We are developing a plan for visitors to make sure there is a balance between the need to conserve and enhance the area, while maintaining it as a living, working environment.

Deadline

"We're keen to get as much feedback as possible."

The AONB survey is available online at www.lichfielddc.gov.uk/aonbsurvey2014. The deadline to reply is Friday, March 28. For a paper copy, email cannockchase@staffordshire.gov.uk or call 01785 619185.

Comments can also be sent by email to anne.walker@staffordshire.gov.uk or in writing to Cannock Chase AONB Unit, Stafford Borough Council, Civic Centre, Riverside, Stafford ST16 3AQ.

Golf club in fundraiser

A GOLF club has helped to raise more than £3,000 for Prostate Cancer UK.

Members of Chase Golf Club's senior section organised a Chinese banquet night, fundraising golf day and a raffle. Barclays also donated £800.

A cheque for £3,384 was handed over to the charity this week.

The club based in Pottal Pool Road, Penkridge currently has around 800 members.

Senior captain Alan Shepard said: "I'm very pleased by how much we've raised. The money is going to such a good cause."

YOUNGSTERS in Cheslyn Hay have been singing the story of Oliver Twist on stage.

Around 60 pupils at Cheslyn Hay Sport and Community High School performed Oliver! to pupils, friends and family in the Saredon Road school's theatre.

The group of 11 to 18-year-olds had been rehearsing the musical since September and have staged several performances, with the last show held at the weekend.

Head of drama Jessica Smith said the show had received a good reaction. She said: "They have put a lot of effort in."

"They have been very enthusiastic and have done fantastically well."

"They have been committed to making a brilliant show," she added.

"It's had very positive reactions and there's been good feedback from staff at the school."

Jobs are saved at garage in buyout

ALL 17 jobs have been saved at a car garage and workshop after it was bought out of administration.

The Leeds office of business turnaround and insolvency specialist Wilson Field was appointed as administrators to K&G Bodyshop Ltd in Burntwood.

The company, which offered accident repairs, classic car restoration, custom paint work, had suffered cashflow problems.

Former director Michael Price-Darby has bought the business, based on Burntwood Industrial Estate, under MPD Trading, preserving 17 permanent positions from technicians to administration staff.

Administrators from Wilson Field were appointed on February 28 with the sale completed on the same day.

The total value of the deal is undisclosed but includes the business and the assets of the company.

Kelly Burton, associate director at Wilson Field said: "It is an excellent result when we can give a company a future and save jobs."

The K&G garage name was established in the 1960s in Cannock by Ken Elwell and George Tabernor, and was formerly the main Peugeot dealer.

Wildlife fun for families

YOUNG people with disabilities and their families can learn about the delights of the natural world at a free family event at the Wolseley Centre this weekend.

Staffordshire Wildlife Trust is running the drop-in Wildplay family event from 11am to 3pm on Saturday.

Activities will include making bird feeders, den building, natural art and planting.

Children can also try their hand at magic and balloon modelling, with cake and refreshments provided.

For more information call Lynsey Jenkins on 01889 880100.

Lambs arrive

THE first lambs of spring have arrived at South Staffordshire College's Rodebaston Campus, near Penkridge. Some 400 lambs are expected over the next three to four weeks. Lambing weekends take place at the college's Animal Zone on March 22-23 and 29-30.

Students set for overseas placement

Some the students set to go on the Bulgaria trip

PUBLIC Services students from South Staffordshire College are to undertake a two-week work placement in Bulgaria.

The college, in collaboration with European Training Services (ETS), is sending the students to Sofia as part of the Leonardo da Vinci Project.

ETS applies for funding from the project, which supports European work placements for graduates and school leavers and hosts more than 400 trainees every year.

The Leonardo da Vinci Project is funded by the European Community's Lifelong Learning programme and facilitates student exchanges both from and into European destinations, providing them with hands-on experience in a different EU member state to enrich their vocation in the UK.

The Public Services students hope to go on to become future customs officials, immigration officials, policemen and firemen among professions.

The training they will receive, run by the Bulgarian Institute of Labour & Social Research, will provide them with a unique insight into issues such as governance, citizenship, immigration and the impact of terrorism and conflict.

The students are being prepared for their trip with 20 hours of language training, resilience training, pre-departure cultural induction and a tailored employability training, which will enable them to use the experience to maximise their chance of employability post training.

Helen Pettifit, student engagement co-ordinator at South Staffordshire College, is leading the project.

She said: "South Staffordshire College puts students at the heart of everything we do and our mission is to provide them with the best route to academic excellence and career development."

Paramedic bitten by dog while owner has treatment

A PARAMEDIC was bitten on the wrist by a Staffordshire Bull Terrier while he was trying to treat the animal's unconscious owner in a park.

Ambulance worker Andrew Hopwood was called after a man was found collapsed in Hednesford when the dog, which was not on a lead, "locked its jaws" round his hand, Cannock magistrates court.

The injured first responder instructed bystanders in how to apply first aid and a bandage to his bleeding arm until help arrived.

Mr Philip Rowlands, prosecuting, said the dog, called Snatch, attacked the paramedic when he tried to move him aside to tend to owner Karl Jones on September 14 last year in Cardigan Place.

"This defendant was described as being unable to keep the dog under control. On the day he was lying on a park bench. The dog was freely running around.

Shock

"There was concern about his health. When the paramedic came and attended to him, the dog bit him," Mr Rowlands said.

"It bit into the wrist. I felt incredible pain."

He was taken to the University Hospital of North Staffordshire for treatment. The court heard Snatch was confiscated by police.

Jones, aged 31, of Barnard Way, Cannock, said he suffered black outs and denied being drunk.

He said he had owned Snatch for six months prior to the incident and he had not bitten anyone else.

He denied being the owner of a dog allowing it to be dangerously out of control in a public place and cause injury and denied the dog was not under proper control. Sentencing was adjourned for reports.

Walkies In The Woods has been organised by the Cannock-based Newlife Foundation, which raises money for disabled children.

The sponsored dog walk - along trails of either one or three miles - is taking place on Sunday starting from the visitor centre off Marquis Drive, in Hednesford from 10am.

Newlife raises money to buy essential disability equipment for children living in Staffordshire.

Newlife Foundation spokesman Jane Vincent said: "We've had 22 dogs and their owners sign up so far but there is still space for more."

"Dogs range from a Jack Russell to a German Shepherd."

Entry for each dog is £5. To register for the walk call 0800 9884640, email fundraise@newlifecharity.co.uk or go to www.newlifecharity.co.uk/dogwalk

Backlash over breastfeeding 'tramp' jibe

The photograph that sparked outrage in Rugeley as Emily Louise Slough breastfeeds her daughter last Friday

A RUGELEY mother was labelled 'a tramp' on social media after breast-feeding her daughter in public.

Emily Louise Slough's actions were viewed by thousands of people - after a passer-by took a picture and posted it on the 'Spotted Rugeley' page.

The page has been deactivated and her infuriated response has now gone viral with people across the globe backing Mrs Slough's plans to protest in the town with mothers and their babies.

The mother-of-two was feeding her eight-month old daughter Matilda on Friday when her picture was secretly taken. It was posted on Facebook and accompanied with the caption: "I know the sun is out n all that but theres no need to let your kid feast on your nipple in town!! Tramp."

The anonymous post has seen a huge backlash. Now Mrs Slough, aged 27, is rallying people to meet in Market Street, Rugeley, at midday on Saturday (March 15) for a mass breastfeed.

She said: "I thought how dare this anonymous person make such a comment which could deter mothers from breast feeding which is their right to do so?"

"I have breast fed both my children and it does not bother me. But I thought rather than ignore this and just get angry that I would turn it around and show this person up and stand up for what is right."

Mrs Slough, who also has a three-year-old son Leo, has set up her own Facebook event page called Rugeley Mass Feed and is tweeting using the hashtag #rugeleymassfeed.

She said: "I think it is outrageous to label someone a tramp for breast feeding."

NEWS in brief

Candles warning after home blaze

FIREFIGHTERS are urging homeowners not to leave candles burning following a blaze in Cannock.

The fire broke out in a bedroom at a bungalow on Watling Street on Saturday. It is thought a tea-light will set fire to bedding.

No one was at home at the time but the residents alerted the fire service when they returned.

Station manager Tim Hollingsworth said: "I would urge people to always check that any candles are completely out before leaving the house."

Chance to sail for free at open day

A SAILING club is offering a family try for free day as it launches two new boats.

South Staffs Sailing Club is offering people the chance to learn the ropes, from 10am to 4pm on Saturday, April 5 at Gailey lower pool.

It will be the first chance to try out the club's two new GP14 training boats, that will be used in the club's RYA Start Sailing courses from April 23.

Visit www.southstaffssailingclub.co.uk or follow the club on Twitter at @ssscweet

Footpath repairs are carried out

A £285,000 project is being carried out to resurface footpaths and replace damaged kerbs in Cheslyn Hay.

Staffordshire County Council is carrying out the works, which should take around 32 weeks, in Littlewood Road and Littlewood Lane.

Residents are advised not to leave their cars parked during the day as work takes place.

Opening of new town centre gym

BUDGET fitness chain PureGym is set to open its doors in Hednesford today (Thursday).

Fifteen jobs have been created by the move into the 13,000 sq ft unit at Victoria Park.

It will be open 24/7, provide more than 220 pieces of fitness equipment and offer members more than 40 free classes a week.

Gardening talk

RON Rock gives a talk on 'gardening for all' to Staffordshire Wildlife Trust Cannock group on Wednesday, March 19, at 7.30pm at St Luke's Church Centre, Cannock. Admission is £1.50 and all are welcome.

IN MY VIEW

WITH
ANDREWS

LIKE all the great thinkers of our time, 20-year-old Gemma Worrall decided to share her thoughts on the delicate situation in the Ukraine on Twitter.

Of course she did. Does anybody ever have any thoughts on anything these days, without announcing them on Twitter?

But the Blackpool lass's musings on the stand-off between the West and Russia over the future of Crimea really are worth savouring.

"If baraco baron is our president, why is he getting involved with Russia, scary," she wrote.

And that certainly is scary.

Not only can she not spell Barack Obama's name, she appears to think Blackpool is part of the United States. And next year she will be allowed to vote at the General Election.

Incidentally, although admitting politics is not her strong point, she claims to have 17 GCSE O-levels. Seventeen. However did she manage that?

It is tempting to quip that arithmetic is probably not her strong point either, but the sad thing is that she probably does have the qualifications she says. Still, good to 'no' the exam system hasn't been dumbed down.

THIS week Britain marked national No-Smoking Day, with events held all around the West Midlands.

Meanwhile, the campaign group Tobacco Free Futures warned (before hastily re-editing) that it was "fighting back against an industry which kills 2 in 1".

Now that is a deadly industry. Presumably arithmetic is not their strong point either?

ANOTHER example of the stupidity rife on our social media network is the furor surrounding Emily Slough, a young mother who had been pictured breastfeeding her daughter in Rugeley town centre.

The photograph was then posted on Facebook by some sad case who branded her a tramp. I can't help but think that if the sight offended me so much, I would be wanting to get it out of my mind, not posting it on the internet so thousands of other people could see it.

And then finally, we have the reaction of Mrs Slough herself, who has responded by organising a mass breast-feeding session in Rugeley town centre on Saturday.

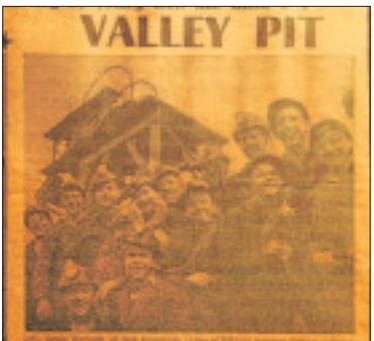

Please ladies, enough. I know breastfeeding is natural, but so is taking a leak. It is generally accepted that it is bad manners to do that in the street.

And while the Facebook comments were nasty, vitriolic and spiteful, is it really right for a bunch of militant breast-feeders to use their children as props in a tasteless publicity stunt?

Both sides need to take a deep breath and calm down. There are more important issues to get worked up over.

Pickets at the gates of Littleton Colliery in 1984

THROUGH THE YEARS

1984

A NAKED duel on a nippy December afternoon landed two men with £50 fines. Lichfield magistrates fined the men for behaviour likely to cause a breach of the peace following the bizarre stunt, which took place in broad daylight in front of men, women and children.

FORMER Wolverhampton Mayor Ted Lane, thought to be Britain's longest serving councillor, was facing expulsion from the Labour Party after 67 years. Councillor Lane had announced he would stand as an independent Labour candidate after being deselected by his ward party.

THE leaders of 13,000 Staffordshire miners urged their men to join strike action which had paralysed half of the country's pits. The Midlands National Union of Mineworkers said a ballot would take place.

A LOCAL authority defended its decision to threaten a man with court action over £1 owing on his council tax. Clive Hayward, of Willenhall, was sent a demand after paying his £431 bill in 10 instalments of £43. "I thought they would have added £1 to one of the instalments," he said. "The council has been ridiculously heavy-handed."

FRANK Sinatra was reported to be in good shape and anxious to return to the stage days after collapsing during a concert in Virginia.

POLICE removed the distinctive sign outside the Gloucester 'House of Horrors' after a ninth body was found buried at the site. Its owner, Gloucester builder Fred West, appeared before magistrates in the city charged with five more murders, in addition to the three charges he was already facing.

"They were there 24 hours a day, either on the picket line or collecting money.

"I remember seeing two who worked for me in Hednesford about two-thirds of the way through the strike. They went to put money in their bucket but they turned their backs on me.

Trouble

"When the strike had been settled, the pit manager called me and told me he was sending all the diehards to the coalface I looked after, which was under Teddesley Park."

"He said if there was any trouble I had permission to send them out straight away. Most of them were fine. They never spoke to the blokes who carried on working for quite a few days. I had to stop in."

It took eight or nine months for the pit to get back to the level of production it was on before the strike because the hydraulic roof supports became damaged from non-use.

But there was more lasting damage – fall-outs between friends and family members that was never repaired.

Mr Drury, of View Street, Hednesford, still sees some of the men he worked with around the town. He says: "We always talk about the old days when we meet but not really about the strike, not for a number of years. We remember the good times, it's human nature."

2004

TWO young women were rescued after their car plunged 18ft into the River Severn near Ironbridge, forcing them to clamber onto the roof as the vehicle sank into freezing waters. It was believed the driver had served to avoid a badger.

THOUSANDS queued outside Birmingham's University of Central England to audition for the Big Brother house. One hopeful got a friend to film him running through a supermarket in swimming trunks while another dressed in a chicken outfit.

A YOUNG man in the congregation of a Wolverhampton church was forced to empty his pockets by fellow churchgoers after being caught stealing from the collection plate.

"We all wanted a pit to go back to when the strike was over, I've always thought logically. I felt the militants had got it wrong."

"They encouraged a lot of people at Littleton to stop away from work but they didn't cause me any problems. For the first few days, we got called scabs and various other nasty things that implied our parents weren't married."

"I have to say our union was steadfast," he said. "We were going through and that was it. I can't remember an-one turning back. My feeling was that it wasn't going on forever. I never dreamed it would go on for 12 months."

"The only time we had trouble was when a group of miners came up from South Wales at night and somehow got round the security and shovled an 8ft steel girder through the spokes of the winding wheel. They stopped there and the police were called, and we couldn't go in that day. Eventually they came down for food."

The fallout from the miners' strike of 1984 is still being felt 30 years later, reports MARION BRENNAN

CALLS for a public inquiry into the UK's most bitter industrial conflict in living memory are being stepped up as communities commemorate the 30th anniversary of the start of the miners' strike.

Even now, the fallout from the strike is still being felt in communities which were divided by the dramatic events on the picket lines.

The strike began after an announcement by National Coal Board chairman Ian MacGregor that four million tons of capacity was to be taken out of the industry, leading to a loss of 20,000 jobs.

The closure of Cortonwood Colliery in Yorkshire was the spark which led to the historic showdown between the National Union of Mineworkers. The miners eventually returned to work after a year of confrontation to an industry that would never be the same again.

Feelings

The strike was seen as a major political victory for Margaret Thatcher and the Conservative Party.

Cannock miner Mick Drury, now 77, has mixed feelings about the 1984-85 strike but believes strongly that he did 'the right thing' in continuing to work.

After starting work at Littleton Colliery in 1951, he was on the lower rungs of management at the time the strike began in March 1984.

As a deputy overman, he was a member of the National Association of Colliery Overmen, Deputies and Shotfirers, and so did not join the 2,000-plus NUM members at Littleton on the picket lines.

Throughout the strike he and his colleagues continued to go down the mine shaft and examine the roof supports and machinery.

"We all wanted a pit to go back to when the strike was over, I've always thought logically. I felt the militants had got it wrong."

"They encouraged a lot of people at Littleton to stop away from work but they didn't cause me any problems. For the first few days, we got called scabs and various other nasty things that implied our parents weren't married."

"I have to say our union was steadfast," he said. "We were going through and that was it. I can't remember an-

"The only time we had trouble was when a group of miners came up from South Wales at night and somehow got round the security and shovelled an 8ft steel girder through the spokes of the winding wheel. They stopped there and the police were called, and we couldn't go in that day. Eventually they came down for food."

"They were more hardline at Lea Hall Colliery in Rugeley. My niece, a colliery nurse, and her husband, a mechanic in the pit, went out on strike. People would say to me 'Your Bridget's on the picket line again.' She was only 4ft 10in."

Around 90 per cent of miners at Littleton went out on strike on Day One but by the end of the conflict, the numbers had dwindled to around 35 per cent of the workforce.

Mr Drury, who worked at the pit for 38 years, said some people started going back to work after five or six weeks.

A total of 24 pits closed in 1985, 16 the following year and a further 35 before 1990. Today there are just three deep mines still in operation.

Mr Drury has some admiration for the 'diehards' as he called them.

"They were there 24 hours a day, either on the picket line or collecting money.

"I remember seeing two who worked for me in Hednesford about two-thirds of the way through the strike. They went to put money in their bucket but they turned their backs on me.

Big badge wolf sewn on shirt upside down

SUPPORTING Wolves has always had its ups and downs – and so it proved for one unlucky fan.

Richard Gough was left scratching his head after his replica home shirt arrived with the badge sewn on the wrong way up.

Mr Gough, formerly of Cannock, should have been smiling when he tried on his new shirt, but instead his grin was turned upside down when he noticed the club crest faced the opposite way.

The League One club have put things right, however. They sent him a letter which also written upside down.

Pictures of the shirt and the letter have been retweeted thousands of times.

Mr Gough, who now lives in Macclesfield, said: "When I first got the shirt I didn't notice it because I had got one for my daughter so put hers on her first."

"I took mine off and then tried it on a bit later, and I was about to send a snapchat picture to one of my mates.

"I noticed it was upside down but thought it was because I was taking a selfie in a mirror but when I looked at it, it was looking back at me."

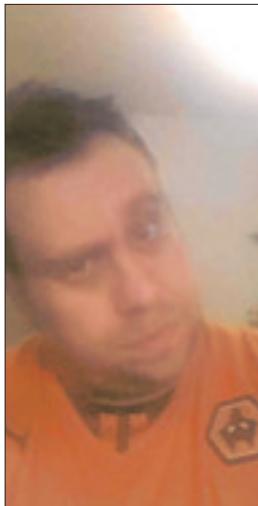

Funny

Wolves tweeted Mr Gough to show him the humorous letter they were about to send out to him.

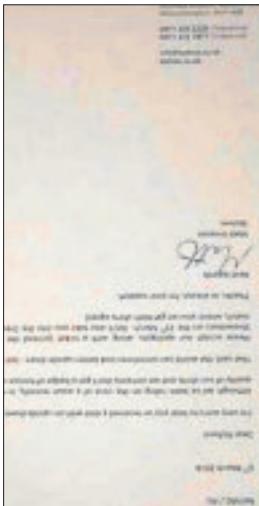

He said: "I haven't actually had it sent out to me yet, but when I saw it, I did find it quite funny."

"I've got auto-rotate on my phone so when I looked at the picture it turned the wrong way again, so I turned my phone back and it went upside again,

"It was pretty funny, I had to turn it off to read it."

Richard Gough in his Wolves shirt with the badge upside down

The letter sent by the club, which has also been written upside down

The letter, shows the paper with the Wolves masthead at the top, but with the words printed on upside down badge of honour on this occasion." The letter offers the fan a free ticket to this weekend's clash against Shrewsbury (Saturday 15), and also the chance to meet the players to get the infamous shirt signed.

It also points out things aren't always bad when they are upside down.

"The world can sometimes look better upside down – last year's league table being one example," the letter reads.

Infamous

Written by Wolves' Head of Communications Matt Grayson, it reads: "Although we've been riding on the crest of a wave recently, in terms of results, we pride ourselves on the quality of our shirts and we certainly don't get a lot wrong."

LETTERSWonderful care given at hospital

ON November 8 at 7am, my wife Catherine was vomiting and had intense pains in her lower abdomen.

The pain was so bad she could not move. I called for a paramedic but before I had even finished my phone conversation a paramedic and an ambulance were outside. In no time they were on their way to Stafford A&E.

My wife was kept under observation and on November 11 she had an operation to correct a twisted bowel.

She was in hospital for nine days. During this time she was given wonderful care and I wish to thank the paramedic, the ambulance crew, all the nurses, the doctors and the brilliant surgeon and theatre staff.

It's time all the bad press about what happened in the past should stop.

Stafford Hospital is doing a wonderful job and should be recognised as doing so.

Downgrade a seriously retrograde step

IT is agreed by all concerned that the hospitals trust should be disbanded and it is time to move forward. The Trust Administrators have spent considerable time, at great expense, and an avalanche of communications and paperwork on consultation.

With Stafford they appear to have ignored the general consensus of opinion that it should remain open and provide the range of services as in the past.

I read regularly of delays, overcrowding and financial problems in all the surrounding hospitals. The administrator's proposals exacerbate these situations, which I understand will be solved by spending vast sums of money. Why can't some of this be utilised to maintain all services at Stafford?

The proposals for Cannock make sense in that it is underused and that staff and patients will be moved from Wolverhampton.

My wife suffered a problem in the early hours of a Sunday morning necessitating a 999 call triggering a visit from a paramedic and ambulance. Under no circumstances would I allow her to be taken to Stoke so she was admitted to New Cross where she received first class attention, partly delayed by the intense pressure under which A&E is working.

I cannot help thinking that had Stafford Hospital been fully open, it would have been to everybody's benefit.

In such circumstances I can only say that despite the recommendations that Stafford Hospital should be downgraded, it would be a seriously retrograde step.

E TURVEY, Penkridge

Problems fault of old management

HAVING listened to Jeremy Hunt regarding the future of Stafford Hospital I could not believe what I was hearing. The problems were through the fault of the previous trust management and the Labour healthcare minister who put the massive timing and saving constraints on them.

They were more focused on reaching their targets than letting the staff do their job of taking care of patients.

If the people running the trust have been replaced then shouldn't the new people get a fair chance at running the hospitals starting with a clean slate, and not having all the debts hanging over them from the previous administration?

If this was a bank it would be propped up with taxpayers' money until it got back on track. I believe the hospital should be kept open and start on a level playing field backed by team of experts to assist the foundation in coming in on budget.

Vile and cowardly crimes

IT was good to read the report in The Chronicle (February 21) that Staffordshire Police is tackling hate crimes. These are vile crimes that divide communities and often involve cowardly bullying and deceitful manipulation.

Well done Staffordshire Police.

Torn image is part of club's golden history

Pat Quirke from the Molineux Museum with Wolves fans, brothers Malcolm and Michael Clark

A FRAYED, torn image that has spent 20 years jammed between a wall and cupboard has proved priceless to Wolverhampton Wanderers.

The 126-year-old photo is the second oldest in the club's existence and is set for a place in the Molineux museum.

It shows the Wolves team that beat West Bromwich Albion 3-1 in 1887 to win the Staffordshire Cup.

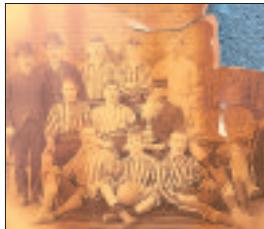

Fan Michael Clark, aged 62, was given the photograph by a friend more than 30 years ago but did not think it had any value because it was so badly damaged. The father-of-two from Wednesfield said: "Luckily I am a hoarder. I kept it in a big cardboard envelope in the kids' room until they grew up and then stuffed it between a cupboard and the wall."

"I forgot about it until I stumbled upon it just before Christmas."

He mentioned it to his brother Malcolm, aged 53, of Penn, who said: "I suggested we contact the Wolves and sent them an image of the picture."

Pat Quirke, a retired history teacher and volunteer at the Wolves Museum, said: "The picture is of immense value to the club and the fact that it is damaged adds to its charm."

Karate call-ups just belting news

Emma Lloyd and Wayne Roberts with fellow members of the Pegasus Wingfoot Shotokan Karate club

TWO karate club members have been selected to compete in national squads. First dan black belts Wayne Roberts and Emma Lloyd are members of Pegasus Wingfoot Karate Shotokan Karate Club, which trains at Cheslyn Hay Leisure Centre.

Mr Roberts, aged 39, of Hedgesford, was selected for the Welsh squad after attending trials in Merthyr Tydfil. Miss Lloyd, aged 18, also a qualified instructor, won a place in the England squad when she attended trials in Liverpool.

They will represent the countries at competitions throughout the year, including the European Shotokan Karate Association Championships in Zurich in November.

Manager Chris Dewsbury said: "It is a fantastic achievement."

Mother died in Toll crash

A MOTHER-of-two died when the car she was in overturned at speed following a crash on the M6 Toll, an inquest heard.

Sarah Gardner was asleep in the front passenger seat when the family Audi veered to the left and hit a Volkswagen Polo on the inside lane.

The Audi overturned, hitting the road on the side where Mrs Gardner was sitting, before landing on its wheels again and coming to a stop on the embankment. The 39-year-old had been returning from a family visit to Solihull with her husband, who was driving, and their two children.

The collision occurred about 800yds before the T6 Brownhills/Burntwood exit.

The inquest heard the Audi, in lane two, hit the Polo after drifting into lane one. The Polo spun out of control and ended up on the same embankment facing the oncoming traffic.

Mrs Gardner, of Stanfield Crescent,

Cheadle, died at the Queen Elizabeth Hospital, Birmingham, on July 29 last year from a traumatic brain injury.

Her husband David said he remembered moving into the second lane but had no recollection after that. A breathalyser test proved negative.

Pc Roger Wetton, of the collision investigation unit, said he could not put forward an explanation for the crash. South Staffordshire coroner Andrew Haigh ruled Mrs Gardner died as a result of a road traffic accident.

CLUB NEWS

True story of the Von Trapps told

CHASE TERRACE

THE talk on the real Von Trapp family, the true story behind the Sound of Music, was give by club member Linda Mountford.

The story was written down by Agathe Von Trapp, one of the children; then by a strange quirk of fate, the rights were sold to a German, so the Von Trapp family only made a small amount of money from the book as the film rights were not theirs.

Colonel Von Trapp's wife died of Scarlet Fever and left him with seven children. He was quite wealthy and coped until eventually he felt the need to employ somebody to teach Maria Von Trapp as she had been ill and was too weak to walk to school.

Louisa was a teacher who loved music and entered a Benedictine monastery intending to become a nun. She eventually fell in love with and married Georg Von Trapp and they had three more children.

When the Second World War drew too close to their family home they fled to Switzerland, France, England and on to America.

After the war the family was reunited and they all moved to Stowe in Vermont where they bought a farm and built their own chalet. Georg died in 1947 from lung cancer and Louisa died aged 82 in 1987.

The Trapp Family Lodge can still be seen in Vermont and is one of the principal sites for the annual Vermont Mozart Festival.

They have arranged a programme which includes fun and friendship along with their work to Educate, Enable and Empower women. The focus of this work in the UK is relating to violence against women and children. The Cannock club will concentrate on doing what it can to support Staffordshire Women's Aid and Pathway.

President-elect Janis Lomas told members she and a small sub-committee had worked over the last eight months to consider events, venues, speakers which would appeal to Soroptimists and guests and enthuse and invigorate everyone involved.

The first big event of the year will be on June 12 at the Barns, Cocksparrow Lane, Huntington, in support of the two charities. Lesley Smith will be in the guise of Mary Queen of Scots and the event, including a two course meal, costs £18.50.

Quick-thinking officers save pensioner's life

A PENSIONER spent a fortnight relaxing in the sun and then collapsed within minutes of stepping off the return flight.

The quick-thinking actions of three police officers saved David Jackson's life. Now the 70-year-old is thanking them for giving him a new lease of life.

They were on hand to use a defibrillator when Mr Jackson collapsed while waiting for his luggage after returning to Birmingham Airport from Majorca in October.

One of the officers had been on a first aid refresher, including how to give CPR and use the defibrillator, just the day before came to Mr Jackson's aid.

A defibrillator is a machine that delivers an electric shock to the heart when someone is having a cardiac arrest. These machines can also be called AEDs (automated external defibrillators).

Actions

Mr Jackson, who lives at Riverside House, an older people's housing scheme in Penkridge, invited the officers to visit him so he could thank them personally for saving his life.

"I would not be alive today if it wasn't for the actions of the police officers. I don't remember anything until I was in the hospital but I know they stayed with me until the paramedics arrived. I really appreciate what they did for me," he said.

"I had sent the officers a picture of me just to remind them of whose life they saved, but we thought it would be even better to thank them in person."

Pcs David O'Neill, Debbie Cart-

David Jackson, Pc Paul Ingram, Pc David O'Neill and Debbie Brownlie
wright and Paul Ingram have been nominated for a Royal Humane Society Award by Inspector Keith Wiseman for their actions.

Insp Wiseman said: "When you see how this helped to save someone's life, it is worth receiving training to know how to work defibrillators in case you need to use them."

Debbie Brownlie, manager of Riverside House, said: "Myself and David's family wish to convey our thanks and gratitude for the police officers' help and immediate response.

"I am personally aware of the split second decisions that you face when confronted with a life or death situation, and am truly grateful that they were able to put their training to very good use."

NEWSWeight loss what doctor ordered

Dave Wilkie and Slimming World teacher Emma Taylor

Dave at a Christmas party at his heaviest, weighing 26st

A RETIRED customer relations officer was shocked into losing weight by his doctor – who told him a trip to see his sister in Australia could kill him.

Dave Wilkie had gone to check on the vaccinations he might need for the holiday of a lifetime with his wife and instead was offered a gastric band to help reduce his 26st frame.

Appetite

In the RAF, where he received the British Empire Medal for his time at NATO headquarters in Brussels, he had coached badminton and squash, and played football. When he left, he stopped exercising regularly and also gave up his 60-a-day cigarette habit which had helped curb his appetite. When his parents died within a year of each other, his eating increased.

Dave put on two stone a year until he reached his heaviest – 26st 7lb.

Dave, who still wants to lose another two stone, is now saving up for that holiday Down Under that he missed out on two years ago. Slimming World class meets on Tuesdays at the Cedar Tree Hotel.

CANNOCK Chase Council's leader has lent his support to campaigners bidding to save Stafford's Shire Hall from closure.

Under proposed budget cuts worth £102million, the library based there would move to the council's headquarters Staffordshire Place.

Residents say they do not want the town's library moved to an 'anaemic and lifeless' building and George Adamson, a county councillor for Hedsor and Rawnsley, is backing their fight.

Petition

Campaigners have secured a council debate after collecting a petition containing more than 2,500 signatures.

At the Prosperous Staffordshire Select Committee on Friday, Councillor Maureen Compton, who spearheaded the petition, said people in Stafford did not want the library to move.

She said: "People want the Shire Hall to remain as it is. We do not want Place is not an appropriate building. The people of Stafford think it's horrendous."

Councillor Adamson said: "Shire Hall is an important part of our heritage. Once Shire Hall is gone, it's gone forever. It's too important to let it go."

The number of signatures on the petition is now 2,915.

A feasibility study has suggested that the ground floor of Staffordshire Place would be a more suitable and accessible site for the library.

No decision has yet been taken on the future of the Shire Hall art gallery and craft shop.

Committee members were told by county council deputy chief executive and director for place Helen Riley that there were no current plans to move the gallery or sell off the building.

The authority hopes to reduce the number of empty or costly buildings to lower the cost to the taxpayer. Shire Hall is reported to cost £218,000 a year to run.

A full business case is being drawn up regarding the move of the library and the cabinet will decide later in the year.

Pupils try out the new library following its opening at Chads Moor Junior School

New chapter as library is opened

WHERE'S WALLY, SPIDERMAN AND AN ARMY OF PRINCESSES WERE AMONG THE LITERARY FIGURES TO SEE THE OPENING OF A NEW SCHOOL LIBRARY IN CANNOCK.

After three years of fundraising, Chads Moor Junior School, in Burns Street, has opened the facility in a former temporary classroom.

To mark World Book Day the pupils wore the costumes of their favourite characters from the world of literature.

And they enthusiastically gathered to see it open for the first time.

Head teacher Karen Barns said: "The idea around the library is to get more children involved with books and reading."

"We also hope it will increase standards in reading."

"It is a project that has been in the pipeline for three years. Some of it has come out for the school budget while the rest has come from fundraising with fairs and things like sales during lunchtime."

"The children were all very excited by the library and of course loved dressing up," she added.

"We marked World Book Day with the children making book marks, a big school jigsaw, making gingerbread men and a whole school book quiz."

Comfortable

The school has 206 pupils and the new library includes a comfortable reading zone with bean bags.

Mrs Barns added: "It is great to see their enthusiasm for the library."

"It is all about getting them into reading. It is a vital skill and hopefully this will help them," she said.

Inspirational Becky is charity launch guest

AN inspirational Cannock woman has helped to launch a major charity partnership.

Becky Wood is Young Ambassador for children's charity Variety and helped Hilton Hotels to launch the initiative in Manchester.

Becky, aged 27, has been wheelchair bound since she was a small child due to brittle bone disease. Her condition means the smallest knock can cause her real injury.

Despite breaking 250 bones, including ribs, arms, legs and even her skull, Becky has helped to raise hundreds of thousands of pounds for Variety by hosting charity auctions.

Becky first became aware of Variety's work at the age of 10 when the charity had helped a young boy at her school to get a wheelchair.

After talking to the Chief Barker at the time, Raymond Curtis, Becky looked into how she would be able to get an outdoor electric wheelchair which would enable her to have the independence she craved.

Confidence

She got her wish that year, after Variety surprised her with her very own electric wheelchair and spurred on by her new freedom, she quickly adapted to her new life.

Becky said: "My life changed when Variety's Gold Heart Appeal bought me an electric wheelchair - it has given me confidence and independence. A wheelchair isn't just a means of transportation, it gives a child the opportunity to live their life and take part in everyday activities.

"Some of my biggest personal achievements include moving into my own home and learning to drive. I would never have had the confidence to do either if it wasn't for Variety and now I'm enjoying my newest hobby, taking my cat to shows up and down the country."

Becky Wood of Cannock launches the Variety charity partnership with the Hilton Deansgate Hotel, Manchester

Becky added: "Millions of disabled people, just like me, can remember their own 'independence day' when things changed forever."

"My independence came in around 1997, an 11-year-old who had relied on other people for everything in my life, was finally free to do things on my own. I will remember that first day in my new chair for the rest of my life."

"My life changed, I found new friends, I was less reliant on others."

"I enjoy meeting new people and sharing my Variety story that inspires others and lets the public know how much the charity has changed my life all those years ago."

NEWSApprentices boost firms

THOUSANDS of new apprentices have brought a boost of more than £3 million to Cannock Chase businesses.

Aidan Burley MP is now calling for more firms to take on apprentices. He says every time a local company hires an apprentice, they get an immediate profit boost of an average of £2,207.

In 2012/13, 1,410 people started an apprenticeship in Cannock Chase – meaning businesses got £3,112,000.

Mr Burley said: "By giving young people a chance, they will be boosting their bottom line."

Memorial repairs for Great War centenary

PENKRIDGE War memorial will be repaired to mark the 100th anniversary of the start of the 1914-18 conflict.

A ceremony to re-dedicate the memorial will also be held as part of the events to commemorate the outbreak of the Great War.

The parish council has agreed to fund the repair and refurbishment of the war memorial, and work, costing £4,500, will start in April.

Residents have been calling for work on the memorial for years, saying it has become dirty and damaged.

The Penkrig branch of The Royal British Legion, along with the parish council and St Michael and All Angels Church will re-dedicate the memorial on August 3 at 2pm.

There will be a parade before the service and a band concert at the Haling Dene Centre, Cannock Road, afterwards.

August 4 marks the 100th anniversary of the day Britain entered the First World War.

Anniversary

Branch secretary Graham Collings said: "We have been planning this for a couple of years and we thought this year would be ideal as it coincides with the anniversary of the start of the war."

Fundraiser Alison Bates said: "Nearly everyone in the UK has an ancestor directly affected by the First World War and all of us live with its effects today. The losses were felt in nearly every UK town and village as more than 1.1 million lives were sacrificed by men and women in service of the British Empire."

"The Royal British Legion was founded by British veterans in the aftermath of the

Penkrig war memorial
First World War and will be at the forefront of centenary commemorations."

Work on the memorial is expected to last for about two weeks. Some of the engraving will be tidied up, and three flower-holders at the front will also be replaced.

Parish councillors say they hope to preserve the memorial for future generations amid fears it would fall into disrepair.

The cash has come from funding that the parish council can allocate each year for community projects and events.

The memorial is the centrepiece of remembrance events each year in the village. For more details on the event in August call 01785 713482.

Business rates reform call by chamber boss

COMPANY chiefs have welcomed a report by a committee of MPs criticising the business rates system as 'not fit for purpose' and 'the single biggest threat to survival' of high street retailers.

The business select committee's retail report urges the Government to fundamentally reform the rates system and introduce a total amnesty on small retail businesses moving into empty property for six months.

Business chiefs in Staffordshire have backed the calls for change.

Chris Plant, director of the Cannock Chase Chamber of Trade, said: "It is good to see Parliament recognise that Britain's business rates system is broken and in need of fundamental reform.

"But politicians must remember that the business rates system is failing all of our businesses – not just the high street."

Reason

He other sectors were also affected by the tax, adding: "We need thriving high streets, but business rates are also the reason many manufacturing and services companies put off investment and hiring decisions because their rates bills are just too high."

Figures on sex offenders

THOUSANDS of registered sex offenders are living within communities in the West Midlands, new figures show.

At the end of last year, there were 1,075 registered sex offenders living across Dudley, Sandwell, Walsall and Wolverhampton. Sandwell had the highest number at 319. Wolverhampton had 277, there were 245 in Dudley and in Walsall 234.

In December 2013, there were 898 registered sex offenders in Staffordshire, including 334 in the south of the county, which includes South Staffordshire, Cannock Chase, Lichfield and Stafford.

Age is no barrier as apprentice bucks trend

A MATURE student is proving you are never too old to learn as she encourages more people to consider apprenticeships.

Apprenticeships are often for 16-to-24-year-olds across trades such as carpentry, electricians, or plumbing, but Housing Plus Group, at Acton Gate, Stafford, is bucking the trend.

Claire Smallwood, from Penkridge, aged 32, has joined the group as a housing apprentice, working across its housing services.

She is currently studying an Open University degree in social studies, and like Housing Plus' chief executive Debbie Griffiths who started out as a trainee rent collector, Claire has ambitions to develop a career in housing management.

She said: "Apprenticeships are traditionally for younger people."

"At 32 and studying for a degree I'm not your typical apprentice but people should not let age be a barrier to something they want to achieve."

Interest

"When I saw the post advertised I called Housing Plus up to explain my situation and they still wanted me to apply because of my interest in housing."

Miss Smallwood, who grew up in council and housing association managed homes in London, has wanted to work in social housing since going to university.

She said: "I have always had aspirations to work in social housing since I lived in council and housing association homes when I was a lot younger."

"I had an interest and

Claire Smallwood, aged 32

first-hand experience of it and I wanted to be able to influence the services that are provided."

Through the apprenticeship Miss Smallwood will be working across lettings, neighbourhoods, income management and resident engagement.

She has already worked in the customer services team and is currently working with the housing services team.

She will also be working towards a level three Chartered Institute of Housing certificate, as well as completing her Open University degree.

Chief executive, Debbie Griffiths, will be mentoring her during her apprenticeship."

County's drug programme is given overhaul

THE number of places on drug and alcohol treatment programmes in Staffordshire has gone up by 20 per cent after a revamp of the service.

Council bosses have undertaken an overhaul of the programmes available, cutting the number of contracts from 10 to three.

They say the service is now more efficient, opening up another 400 places on programmes across the county to take the total to 2,500. Bosses say it will help the crackdown on drug and alcohol abuse, which costs Staffordshire an estimated £110m every year.

A review last year revealed that partners cur-

Service aids pig farmers

A NEW 'MoT' service for buildings to help pig farmers run their controlled-environment houses more efficiently is being introduced by national buildings company, ARM Buildings of Rugeley.

The company is offering an annual routine check in response to requests from farmers who want to know that their piggeries — particularly finishing houses — are performing to optimum levels.

When a new building is commissioned, the controls are set up and checked by ARM.

Thanks to fans from player in cancer fight

HEDNESFORD Town footballer Kris Taylor has thanked fans for their support after his diagnosis and treatment for testicular cancer.

The former Walsall and Manchester United midfielder played and scored the day after he was given the news of the disease.

The 30-year-old father underwent an operation last month and has been continuing to receive treatment.

He took to Twitter to reveal he has been undergoing chemotherapy at the Queen Elizabeth Hospital and decided to shave his hair off.

The popular player has been inundated with support, including from Saddlers fans who have been marking the 15th minute of games with applause.

He wore the number 15 shirt at the Banks's Stadium and made more than 90 appearances, including being part of the League Two title winning side in 2006/07.

Answered

In a message on the Saddlers official website, the father-of-one said: "Since being diagnosed with testicular cancer, my world has been turned upside down."

"The worry of whether things will be okay, what treatment I will need and when I am going to play again have been going through my mind."

"Luckily those questions have been answered and my prognosis is very good."

"During this tough time, my wife has been amazing and so too have my parents."

"Most people know that they can rely on family and close friends for support, but I have also been overwhelmed and touched by the

Pitmen player Kris Taylor support that I have received from the football community.'

I have received so many kind messages via social media and appreciate every single one of them.

I have also heard about the gesture by the Walsall fans. Having a minute's applause during the 15th minute of matches has left me lost for words.

I just wanted the opportunity to say a massive thank you to the Super Saddlers' supporters. It means so much."

The player, from Cannock, was signed by Manchester United as a 14-year-old for £200,000. From there he joined Walsall and has also played for Hereford, Port Vale, Burton Albion and Telford.

4,000 homes to get high speed fibre broadband

HIGH speed broadband will be installed in parts of Staffordshire as part of a £27.87 million project.

Staffordshire County Council, working with BT and BDUK, has announced work is under way to bring high-speed broadband to around 4,000 properties.

Work will be carried out in Penkridge as well as in Yarnfield in Stone and Yoxall. This is in addition to premises in Rugeley and Colton as part of a project that was announced last autumn. Fibre broadband will also be extended in parts of Burntwood and Heath Hayes, meaning more residents and businesses will get faster download and upload speeds. Bosses want more than 88,000 homes and businesses – in mainly rural areas – to access high-speed broadband.

The programme will see the laying of more than one million metres of fibre optic cable and around 500 new street-side cabinets installed.

Bosses say 95 per cent of homes and businesses across the county will have access to superfast broadband by Spring 2016. County councillor Mark Winnington said: "The Superfast Staffordshire project is vital to people and businesses – it will increase opportunities, accessibility and economic growth."

Peace of art puts Hannah in frame

Lion Graham Stanyer with pupil Hannah Dean

A CHASE Grammar School pupil was rewarded for her efforts after giving her thoughts on peace in an art contest.

Hannah Dean, aged 13 won the Cannock Lions Peace Poster contest, which gives youngsters the chance to portray their vision of peace throughout the world.

The theme this year was 'Our World, Our Future' and a Lions spokesman said Hannah's poster featuring a dove flying through the open window into the world had epitomised her quoted hope for calm and tranquility.

Having won at school level, Hannah's poster was pitted against all the other winning group posters within the district, covering Anglesey, Cheshire and Shropshire down to South Staffs. Hannah was runner-up spot and will receive a framed certificate and gift voucher from Cannock Lions.

For more about the Lions, visit their Facebook page or call 07764 202842.

Food and beer event at wildlife HQ is axed

A FOOD and beer festival has been axed after organisers failed to find enough businesses to sponsor the event.

Staffordshire Wildlife Trust was due to host the festival on Saturday, June 7 – it will now instead hold a scaled-down event.

The festival normally attracts thousands of visitors to the trust's Wolseley Centre and is the conservation charity's biggest fundraiser of the year, bringing in around £20,000 in 2013.

But organisers say that this year they struggled to find the money needed to cover the rising organisational costs as a result of visitor numbers shooting up each year, with around £2,500 needed.

Generous

The festival will be replaced by a smaller-scale ticketed fundraising event on June 20, featuring live music and a bar.

Wolseley Centre manager Alison Rhodes said the event could not be held there without sponsorship.

"Staffordshire Wildlife Trust would like to pass on its utmost thanks to the generous sponsorship offers from local businesses towards the beer festival," she said.

By Laura Blyth

"However the trust has decided that the site is no longer suitable for an event on that scale."

She added: "Organisers are considering how to run the beer festival for future years, while holding a smaller-scale event at the Wolseley Centre this summer."

Proceeds from the festival each year go towards the trust's work.

Further details about the replacement fundraising event will be released in the next few months.

FOCUS ON HEDNESFORD

Details of town park revamp to go on show

PEOPLE can find out more about a multi-million pound revamp of a park at a drop-in event next week.

It will be held at the Hednesford Park's pavilion on Thursday, March 20 from 11am to 8pm.

Cannock Chase District Council staff will be on hand to explain the work, which includes tree planting, a new cafe, skate park, community room and car park.

A 3D walk-through of the park will also be on display showing the proposed development together with before and after images.

Memorial

Councillor Christine Mitchell, culture and sport portfolio holder, said: "The proposed works are part of major improvements being carried out to the park and war memorial following the award of £2.2 million from the Heritage Lottery Fund in 2012."

New tennis courts have already been installed and a raft of improvements will take place.

The £3 million makeover will take place over three years and a project team is overseeing the development.

Last month a signal box was lifted from the Chase line near Hednesford and lowered into position in the park by the pavilion.

It will be opened to the public after being restored to its former glory.

A total of £30,000 had to be raised for its rescue, with £20,000 donated by Staffordshire County Council from the sale of Pye Green Valley for housing.

The remaining £10,000 was raised jointly by the district council and Hednesford Town Council.

The box will also be used as a base when there are events on at the park.

Hednesford Valley High School co-ordinator Carol Orme and Luke Edwards, aged 12

A HEDNESFORD school has been commended for its approach towards dyslexia. Hednesford Valley High, in Stanley Road, was awarded full dyslexia-friendly status by Staffordshire County Council.

The award demonstrates the school's support towards youngsters with dyslexia, with staff, governors, parents and carers all receiving training.

The school achieved dyslexia-friendly level one status in 2008 and full status has been developed in partnership with the British Dyslexia Association.

Choir's charity concert

A HEDNESFORD choir will perform a selection of songs in aid of charity next month. The Nexus Youth Choir will be at the Hednesford branch of the Salvation Army, in Anglesey Street, on Saturday, April 5. The concert starts at 7pm and tickets cost £5. For more information call 01543 426128.

NEWSDonation to blood bikers

A solicitors firm has donated a motorcycle GPS navigation system to an voluntary emergency service which transports life-saving medical supplies across the region.

Ansons Solicitors, which has offices in Cannock and Lichfield, made the donation to the newly formed Staffordshire Blood Bikes team. The volunteer service provides urgent and emergency transportation of medical supplies to NHS Foundations.

It ranges from blood to life-saving breast milk for premature babies.

Tickets go in sale for launch of charity song

TICKETS have gone on sale for the launch party of a charity single in memory of the late Charlatans drummer Jon Brookes.

Hednesford band Marquis Drive, who were managed by Mr Brookes and rehearsed at his Norton Canes studio, are launching the single Heard on this Day later this month with 240 tickets available.

They are raising money for the Jon Brookes Fund which is part of the Brain Tumour Charity. The launch will take place at Woody's Music Bar in Hednesford on March 22.

The band features Mark Hillier on lead vocals, Con Saha on drums, John Sheedy on bass, Dirk Cox on keyboard and Eddie Thomas on guitar.

Lifelong friend of the drummer, Adam Paget, has helped organise charitable efforts in Mr Brookes's name.

He said: "There is a lot of interest and we have a band called Sabella coming down from Sheffield with a coach of around 50 people."

Interest

"Originally there was no plans for tickets but there has been so much interest that we have had to make it ticketed to make sure people do not miss out."

"So far the track has gone down really well and we are all looking forward to the release on March 22."

"All proceeds from the event will go to the Jon Brookes Fund."

"It costs £250 a day to fund the research into brain tumours so it is vastly important that we support this work. Having grown up with Jon we are all trying to do our bit."

"I lost both my parents to brain cancer so it is something that is extremely close to my heart and compounded by Jon's death."

The song was played for the first time earlier this month when it aired on Minister FM with Shed Seven frontman Rick Witter. It has also been played on Xfm. It will be released on iTunes on the same day as the launch party.

Mr Brookes, of Burntwood, died last August, aged 44, after battling a brain tumour.

A lifelong West Bromwich Albion fan, he had been in the Charlatans since they formed in 1989.

A gig earlier this year, organised by Mr Paget and Karen Phipps and featuring Isolated Atoms, Junk Monkey, The Rimes, and Spectrum raised £5,000.

Clare's Law to give details of abusive partner

WOMEN across Staffordshire and the Black Country will have the right to find out if their partner has a secret violent past under new laws.

Clare's Law enables both men and women to ask police for background checks that could reveal whether they are at risk of attack or abuse.

It also gives potential victims a 'right to know', which allows police to disclose sensitive information about a partner.

The expansion of Clare's Law nationally comes after a successful pilot in Manchester, Gwent, Wiltshire and Nottingham during which more than 400 women were given sensitive information such as details of a partner's criminal record or complaints about them.

After being rolled out into Staffordshire and West Mercia force regions, police will also introduce it into the West Midlands.

The scheme is named after Clare Wood, who was murdered by her ex-boyfriend George Appleton at her Salford home in February 2009. She was unaware of his domestic abuse history with other women.

Staffordshire Police Chief Constable Mike Cunningham said: "This new scheme allows people the choice to get out of a potential abusive situation."

MEMORY LANE

Conduit Colliery in Norton Canes where George Gough worked

George's name as it appears on the Roll of Honour

Norton Hall, where the Territorial Force, known as the Terriers held their weekly meetings

A remembrance card from Driver George Gough's funeral

Anita Bentley at the grave of her great-uncle George Gough

New grave for hero soldier 100 years on

By Marion Brennan

AN anonymous donor has come forward to pay for a replacement gravestone for a First World War hero.

Driver George Gough died in hospital 150 miles from home after initially surviving a bullet during the build up to one of the bloodiest Great War battles.

He was buried with full military honours at St James Church in Norton Canes, having been wounded shortly before the Battle of Loos. Following an appeal, two great-nieces, Anita Bentley and Georgina Purcell came forward.

They and other family members have agreed to let the grave be taken over by the Commonwealth War Graves Commission.

And a donor from Australia, whose grandfather Harry Penton served alongside Driver Gough, has offered to pay the £1,000 cost of the transfer. Both young men had worked at the same pit, joined the Territorial Force, known as the Terriers, at Norton Canes and gone off to France together, becoming drivers with the 2nd North Midland Field Company. They rode on teams of horses that pulled wagons carrying guns, equipment and other supplies to the front.

The benefactor said: "My grandfather came back, George didn't. This is something I want to do in honour of both of them."

The pitman was the youngest son of John and Eliza Gough, of Hednesford Road, Norton Canes, and worked as a ropeman at Cannock's Conduit Colliery before volunteering for France.

At the front, he took a bullet in his shoulder which paralysed him from the waist down during the build-up to the Battle of Loos in August 1915. He died four months later from his wounds. According to local news reports, the whole village turned out for his funeral. A party of Leicester Regiment soldiers from the nearby Rugeley camp fired a salute over his grave.

The now-broken marble headstone, in the shape of a cross, was found by Richard Pursehouse and Lee Dent, members of the Chase Project research group.

Since being contacted by Anita, a retired teacher from Cannock, she and Georgina have been in touch with another great-niece Susan Bland and three great-nephews Kenneth, Colin and Dennis Gough.

Year 8 students at Norton Canes High School, attended by Driver Gough and then known as Norton Canes Boys' School, now want to research his story. The school will investigate whether two of its students surnamed Gough are related.

Teachers found Driver Gough's name on a Roll of Honour at Norton Canes Primary School.

All grown up and ready for the big wide world

Editorial by Philippa Taylor Year 12 Student who joined the school in 1999 age three years old.

"I clearly recall my first day at Chase Grammar School although back then it was Chase Academy. I was in nursery and the welcome I had was so wonderful that the days flew by. I would only drink juice, but the headmistress at the time exclaimed that I would drink water. Now I drink it all the time. The discipline to be respectful and polite at just two years and a 11 months, has carried on through my life."

"The teaching methods were fun, but productive and the encouragement to read and write at a young age certainly aided me for the future, accelerating my development. There was a time called play and discovery which built on social skills, communication to work out what the objects related to outside of school life."

"Through Reception, Year 1 and 2, the sporting activities consisted of dance, swimming, interesting ball and bean bag games. This highlights where my passion for sport roots from, finding it effortless to perform the tasks set. Through these years we were taught story writing, simple arithmetic, spelling and some of the early times tables. This enabled me to gain an advantage straight away leading up to my GCSEs, knowing I would not lack knowledge, learning the required syllabus and utilising my time better."

"At sports days, we were taught sportsmanship and respect for other people, the races were simple but effective as it highlighted my competitive streak, allowing myself to push for more."

Philippa tutoring Aliya

Philippa has gone from strength to strength with her passion for archery, representing England and winning many competitions

"The sportsmanship granted me control over how I reacted at an early stage, which has helped me to become a top level athlete. As a whole, we were taught to care for each other, share our belongings with each other and to this day I remember people's birthdays I have lost touch with. As we went through the years we were taught to give and look after each other. For example non-uniform day, sponsored walks where a specific charity a year gets all the raised money."

"At Christmas there was always a Nativity performance at St.Luke's Church Cannock, playing Mary was the highlight and that Joseph would not hold my hand. We also performed for the residential home who enjoyed our performance. There were also solos sung for Once in Royal David's City which boosted confidence for boys to sing, showing nobody would discriminate, giving them free will. To add to this school plays are performed down to year 1 to develop communication, acting and confidence at a young age. This has lead me to reading in church with ease in front of 400 people."

"From years 3-6 we were given the chance to play team sports like, hockey, netball, rounders, football and cricket against other teams, developing team building, producing a team player. The turn of captain was passed around through each match to give the responsibilities to all students, this allowed us to analyse who played the best and we were allowed an input to whom received player of the match. From these year groups we had inter-house competitions which further developed our sportsmanship abilities not just in a sporting situation but a life like one."

"Encouraged to sing, dance and play an instrument, enhanced a proactive lifestyle to improve skills, trying to find our talents individually. Having school concerts in front of the school portrayed the message the school wanted, no matter how good or bad you are at your instruments it's the taking part that counts. This message radiates through all years as house points are up for grabs if you take part, every house point counts in who wins the house shield!"

"Above all I've spent 15 years of my life here and it's been very enjoyable, I now wish I could go back to these years, however I'm glad they have been good and worth the money my parents paid for."

Editorial by Jackie Williams, Headmistress

"When asked to write more about school for local magazines I wondered just how much people would want to read what the headmistress says. It struck me that since our children take visitors around on Open day and tell our visitors all about the school, it might be more interesting to ask what the children think. The text from Pip landed on my desk and I was impressed that she had managed to fit it in at this busy

Philippa Taylor aged three time. I wondered whether to edit what she has written but in the end decided that Pip tells it as it is. She has experienced most of her life here and knows that it is like to grow up here. When she first joined us Pip was so small that we had to stack two chairs together so that she could reach the dining table. Now she is a young woman making choices about university. She has made the most of her opportunities here and as she begins to think about where she will go next I am pleased that she will look back at her time here with such positive and fond memories. We are also sure that she will leave with the best academic results that she could achieve."

"Academically our students do well with our A Level results consistently placing us at the top of the league tables. This is a result of much work and very early on we begin by focussing on basic skills. We make sure that the foundations are secure before we begin to build on them. We know our children well and later on we are able to tailor the curriculum to create the best course for each child."

"However, there is more to an education than results. It is about developing the whole person and it is about getting children to recognise their own strengths and skills and putting them to good use. There are ample opportunities here and in the same way that life is very much about getting out what we put in, children get out of school what they put in. What we do is encourage them and tell that they can do it, they just need to try."

COMMERCIAL FEATURE

An ideal environment to develop a range of skills

STAFF and pupils feel happy and safe in the St Francis of Assisi community, where teachers and learners have a close working relationship. This creates strong support for students to achieve their ambitions and aspirations.

Students of the sixth form, based in Aldridge, are encouraged to be independent, creative and confident young people.

They are taught from the start to be hard working and dedicated, with a scholarly attitude towards school and the wider world of work.

It is incredibly easy to become overwhelmed with school work when you make the decision to continue with further education.

Potential

However, at SFA, the teaching faculty is dedicated to ensuring students achieve their full academic potential. Staff ensure students have a strong support system to assist in overcoming difficulties they may face during their time there.

A spokesman said: "We believe it is vital to demonstrate proactive behaviour and work hard in order to be the best that we can be, therefore at St Francis we carry out our motto, 'Nil satis nisi optimum' – Only the best is good enough."

Sixth form students play a vital role in the school community and are involved in most events held during and after school, where they engage with the younger students, parents and teachers alike.

Creativity is an important aspect of learning

Students are expected to be role models inside and outside of school, and evidence of this can be witnessed in the dedication the head boy, head girl, senior prefects and subject ambassadors show.

The Catholic ethos is the heart of the school and morals and beliefs shape the community. This creates an environment where everybody is seen as an individual and is important.

SFA has pupils from as far afield as Lichfield and Tamworth as well as students from Birmingham, Walsall, Sutton and Aldridge itself. Whatever career path you decide to pursue, the school will provide the support and guidance in order to ensure you have the best chance of achieving your goals.

Students are also provided with a wide range of opportunities to help develop a perspective of the world around them. For example, they take part in the annual pilgrimage to Lourdes.

Further opportunities, such as university visits or outside speakers giving expert talks on their field of work, ensure there is a clear awareness of the future paths students hope to take post-16. What makes the sixth form excel is the opportunities on offer to consolidate learning and help SFA students stand out when they move on to higher education, training or employment.

St Francis of Assisi is perfect for any student who wants a happy, secure and successful place to study.

The school has highly qualified staff to guide students' success and it firmly believes if you show ambition and passion for your subject then you will achieve success in every way possible.

Legendary band Drifts in for Optimum tour

ONE of the world's most recognised spiritual mediums makes an appearance in Cannock later this month.

Colin Fry, best known for his TV show, Sixth Sense, is at the Prince of Wales Centre, in Church Street, on Thursday, March 27, from 7.30pm.

Fry is in great demand to make public appearances and his Voices From Heaven show will see him bring his own unique form of comfort and upliftment, living up to his billing as 'The People's Medium'. Tickets are £18.

Described as their most spectacular show to date, The Drifters make a welcome return to the theatre on Thursday, April 5.

Decades

The Optimum tour follows on from the success of the 60th Anniversary Diamond Dynasty tour.

Now featuring a line-up of Pierre Herelle, Michael Williams, Ryan King and Carlton Powell, fans can hear decades of hits such as Up On The Roof, Under The Boardwalk, Saturday Night At The Movies, Kissin' In The Back Row, Come On Over To My Place and More Than A Number In My Little Red Book along with a selection of new recordings.

Tickets are £25 for the 7.30pm show.

Sixties fans can also go on a musical journey through the life and times of Gerry & The Pacemakers in a show on April 11, while award-winning comedian Billy Pearce brings his brand of adult humour to the venue on Saturday, May 24 at 7.30pm.

Matthew Rhys

The Americans ITV, 9.20pm

The mid-1980s 'Reds Under the Bed' saga returns for a new run, and Russian spy Elizabeth (Keri Russell) has recovered from her injuries sustained on the last mission. Getting home in time for her son Henry's birthday party, she and Philip (Matthew Rhys) attempt to restore the façade of their all-American lifestyle. While Henry is thrilled to have his mum back (she being "caring for a sick aunt"), daughter Paige is not so easily fooled. Her growing concerns about her parents' unusual activities have continued to escalate while the matriarch was away.

Talladega Nights: The Ballad of Ricky Bobby, Channel 5, 11pm

A Nascar racing champion has everything he could want – until an arrogant French rival seizes the title from him, and his wife runs off with his best friend. Forced to move back in with his parents, the downhearted driver faces a battle to rebuild his shattered self-confidence and return to the track. Comedy, starring Will Ferrell, John C Reilly and Sacha Baron Cohen. (2006)

TUESDAY

Cries in the Dark, Channel 5, 3.15pm

A cop investigates her pregnant sister's murder, and discovers her baby was delivered but is being held captive by the killer. Thriller, starring Eva La Rue and Adam Harrington. (2006)

WEDNESDAY

Brokeback Mountain, Channel 4, 12.05am

A doomed love affair between two Wyoming cowboys develops over the course of 20 years. The relationship begins when they are hired to herd sheep on a remote mountain in the 1960s, and though they go their separate ways and try to settle down to married life, they are unable to overcome their desire for each other and continue to meet in secret. Ang Lee's drama, starring Heath Ledger and Jake Gyllenhaal. (2005)

Revolutionary Road, Friday, BBC2, 11.10pm

THURSDAY

Sea Devils, Channel 4, 12.50pm

A smuggler in 19th-century Cornwall sneaks a woman into France, only to discover he has accidentally helped a spy flee the country. However, he later realises she is actually a double agent plotting to foil Napoleon's invasion of England. Swashbuckling adventure, starring Rock Hudson and Yvonne de Carlo. (1953)

FRIDAY

Duplicity, ITV, 10.35pm

A former CIA agent and an ex-MI6 officer find their romantic past catching up with them as they go head to head working in counter-intelligence for multinational corporations. As they try to outmanoeuvre each other to gain information about a lucrative product, they have difficulty maintaining a professional focus amid the sexual tension. Thriller, starring Julia Roberts. (2009)

Revolutionary Road, BBC2, 11.10pm

Frank and April Wheeler live a picture-perfect life on the surface, but in truth are growing frustrated with their lot and feel stifled by their situation. When April suggests the family moves to France to start a new life, Frank is persuaded it is a good idea, though when he is offered a stable job with a lucrative pay packet he changes his mind. 1950s-set drama, starring Kate Winslet. (2008)

Dermot's new project is out of this world

Dermot O'Leary is no stranger to the vagueness of live TV – after all, he's the man who has had to get Louis Walsh to make his mind up about who he's sending home on The X Factor.

But now he's about to take on an even bigger challenge, as he helms a ground-breaking broadcast from the International Space Station.

The presenter won't actually be going into orbit himself, but he's thrilled just to be our man at Mission Control in Houston.

Dermot says: "This is such a mega and amazing programme to be part of, I am so looking forward to presenting it and I cannot wait."

"Going live with a TV show is always great, but to be able to say 'now we are going live to the Space Station' will be a fantastic and surreal experience."

It's going to be fairly mind-blowing for viewers as well, as the programme aims to take us around the world in 90 minutes – over the course of the broadcast, the space station will be orbiting 250 miles above the Earth at speeds of up to 17,500 miles per hour.

And when they're not sharing their incredible views of our planet, two of the ISS's English-speaking astronauts, Rick Mastracchio and Koichi Wakata, will be interacting with the Earth-bound public.

No doubt Dermot will have a few questions for them as well. "For me, the point of going into television is I am always interested in people – whether it is an astronaut or a cab driver. I love getting stories and it is why I do the job I do."

"My fascination for this programme is two-fold. Aside from the live link-up and how brilliant that will be, there is that macabre thing where you wonder what you would do if something goes wrong. How do they deal with it? What do they do? Then there are the ordinary, daily things like how do they shave? How do they go about their day-to-day lives? Everything about it all fascinates me."

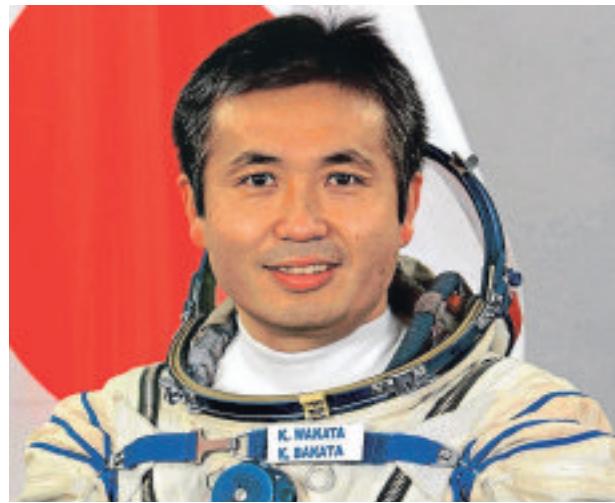

Although Dermot admits he's not an expert on space exploration, he does have a few boffins on hand.

He'll be joined in Houston by Mike Massimino, one of the astronauts who helped repair and upgrade the Hubble Telescope, but who might be best known to regular Channel 4 viewers for his cameo appearances on The Big Bang Theory, and there are also contributions from Stephen Hawking and British astronaut Tim Peake.

So after doing all the research and preparation for the show, and rubbing shoulders with the experts, is there a part of Dermot that wishes he was broadcasting from the Space Station itself?

He says: "You don't realise that when you talk about what it would be like to be an astronaut. The level of sacrifice they have to make is extraordinary and they have to be so fit and intelligent. They do have a certain purpose up there and the science that goes into it all really fascinates me – but no, I don't want to be an astronaut!"

Pick of the Week

Live from Space: Lap of the Planet, Sunday, Channel 4, 7.30pm

Best of the Rest

The Widower, ITV, 9pm

The League of Gentleman, Psychoville and the recent Inside No 9 all proved that Reece Shearsmith likes his comedy on the creepy side. But he's set to be even more unsettling in this new three-part drama, not least because it's inspired by a true story. Shearsmith stars as Malcolm Webster, whose new wife Claire (Sheridan Smith) is concerned by his mounting debts – but rather than sort out his finances, he instead tries to get her under control by systematically plying her with drugs, and then resorts staging a car accident, which claims her life. After collecting the life insurance cheque for £200,000, Malcolm moves to New Zealand and starts a new life, but old patterns start to repeat themselves...

The Plantagenets

BBC2, 9pm

They may not have got their own sexy mini-series like the Tudors, but the Plantagenets can take some comfort in the fact that no other dynasty managed to reign over England for so long. From Henry II's accession to the throne in 1154 until Richard III's death in 1485, they ruled the land – and now Professor Robert Bartlett is telling the Plantagenet story. He begins, fittingly enough, with Henry II, looking at how he created an empire that took in much of France as well as England. But his legacy was threatened by his warring sons Richard and John, who at one point looked set to destroy the royal house.

TUESDAY

Shetland, BBC1, 9pm

Perez and his team work against the clock to catch the killer of Catherine, a young girl found dead on a beach. He is in a dream-like state of shock when seven-year-old Catriona Bruce's body is discovered on a hill clutching a doll. The law enforcer thinks it's the same doll he sees in a photo at Magnus Bain's house, so the reclusive is taken in for questioning while a mob expresses its anger. Though he tries to get answers, Perez just gets a whining from the suspect, and just before he's locked in a prison cell, Magnus lashes out. Douglas Henshall, Sophia Carr-Gomm and Brian Cox head the cast.

Undercover Doctor: Cure Me, I'm Gay

Channel 4, 10pm

Dr Christian Jessen is most famous for going about his medical business on Channel 4 favourites Embarassing Bodies and Supersize and Superskinny, and until now his homosexuality has never been relevant to his media work. However, this one-off documentary investigates matters close to his heart, namely attitudes towards gay people, and sees Christian going undercover to investigate – and undertake – controversial gay 'cures' both here and over in America. The doc is shocked to discover that there are some people who believe homosexuality to be a disorder that needs curing, so he's eager to prove or disprove their claims by offering himself up for the treatment.

WEDNESDAY

W1A, BBC2, 10pm

When you have a sitcom as successful and critically acclaimed as Twenty Twelve, it seems only natural to carry on the saga, even if the event the key characters are plugging – the London Olympics – has come and gone. So the good news is Hugh Bonneville and Jessica Hynes are back for this new BBC-centric saga, and they are joined by Sarah Parish. In the first offering, accusations of anti-Cornish bias are levelled at the BBC, so Ian calls in Siobhan, of PR company Perfect Curve, to advise him.

Meanwhile, producer Lucy Freeman chairs a meeting about pending show Britain's Tastiest Village – a mash-up of Britain's Got Talent, Countryfile and The One Show.

THURSDAY

Turks & Caicos, BBC2, 9pm

Typical, you wait three years for a sequel to the terrific BBC film

Page Eight, and then two come along at once. Starring Bill Nighy as MI5 spy Johnny Worricke, Page Eight was shown to great acclaim in 2011, and now Turks and Caicos picks up where that left off. We find former analyst Worricke hiding out from MI5 in the West Indies, where an encounter with a CIA agent forces him into the company of some dubious American businessmen. As he learns more about the extent of their nefarious schemes, he ends up having to fight for his own survival as he uncovers links to the British prime minister. Christopher Walken, Helena Bonham Carter, Winona Ryder and Ralph Fiennes co-star.

FRIDAY

Sport Relief 2014, BBC1, 7pm

The brains behind this charity extravaganza have pulled off a coup that could turn Comic Relief's Red Nose green with envy – it boasts the return of Only Fools and Horses after a 10-year absence from our screens. Del Boy (David Jason) and Rodney (Nicholas Lyndhurst) are reuniting for a one-off sketch, but if you're wondering where exactly the sport comes in, they are joined by a special guest star – that's right, David Beckham is heading to Peckham. The rest of the evening's broadcast comes live from Queen Elizabeth Park, with Gary Lineker, David Walliams, Claudia Winkleman, Jack Whitehall, Fearne Cotton and Davina McCall (who has hopefully got her breath back after her strenuous fund-raising efforts last month) on presenting duties.

Drivetime

New Cupra power pack chalks up a record time in Germany

The SEAT Leon Cupra 280 has smashed the Nürburgring Nordschleife lap record for a front-wheel drive car. With an astonishing time of 7:58.4, it becomes the first FWD production model to dip below the eight-minute barrier.

The car used to set the amazing lap time was a production-specification Leon Cupra 280 DSG, equipped with an optional Performance Pack which includes Brembo high-performance brakes, specially designed 19in alloy wheels and Michelin Pilot Sport Cup 2 tyres.

Formerly announcing the record at the Spanish company's Geneva Motor Show press conference, SEAT SA president Jürgen Stackmann said: "Our ultimate expression of the successful Leon model is the all new Leon Cupra. It is the fastest and the most powerful car we have ever built and yet is a comfortable family car. The Cupra is our new icon."

Sticking with a high-performance theme, SEAT also put the new Leon Cup Racer – the competition vehicle developed and built by SEAT Sport – on display in Geneva. The Cup Racer forms the basis of the Leon Eurocup, beginning in May 2014 and which invites private race teams to compete on some of Europe's most iconic racing circuits.

Another attraction on the SEAT stand is the new Mi by MANGO, a new range-topping, design-driven edition of SEAT's city car created in collaboration with the famous design label MANGO.

Impressive

SEAT is currently demonstrating impressive performance in sales. With 355,000 vehicles delivered worldwide, the Spanish manufacturer achieved growth of 10.6 per cent in 2013, in a market which shrank by 1.8 per cent in Europe.

In Germany, for instance, SEAT achieved a market share of 2.8 per cent following growth of over 22 per cent, placing it in the top ten. In the United Kingdom, registrations of the brand increased by around 17 per cent, and close to eight per cent in its home market of Spain. The new Leon family made a major contribution to this success: no less than 102,000 new SEAT Leon models were registered in 2013, 44 per cent more than in the previous year.

"SEAT clearly has positive sales momentum. The new Leon family is a key contributor to this growth. We are about to create a second strong pillar of business next to the Ibiza family. We expect to continue this success with the new Leon ST launched in the past months. First customer reaction is very positive, with over 20,000 factory orders already since launch period. We have momentum and plan to continue our growth path in 2014," says Jürgen Stackmann.

"SEAT is a young-spirited brand made in Barcelona. This young spirit is defined by two dimensions: we are design-driven and we are dynamic."

The new Leon Cupra embodies SEAT's brand values in the best possible way: state-of-the-art technology and stunning design, coupled with compelling performance and excellent everyday usability. With up to 280PS, the new Cupra is the brand's quickest and most powerful series-production car, and is the most dynamically engaging car SEAT has ever produced.

With its extensive equipment and excellent quality, the new Cupra represents exceptionally good value-for-money. This new sports icon for the SEAT range will be offered from launch as a five-door and as the Leon three-door SC.

DrivetimeSEAT Leon gets estate

By Graham Breeze

Why it's taken SEAT so long to introduce an estate version of the popular Leon range is anyone's guess.

But now they have and the company has done a great job, managing to keep the highly impressive hatchback's style and handling in place.

It's called a Sports Tourer – but it is an estate too with S, SE and FR trim levels, and power coming from a selection of turbocharged petrol and diesel engines. My pick is the SE 1.6TDi 105PS version with a starting price of £19,495, average fuel consumption figures of an amazing 74.3mpg and CO2 emissions of only 99g/km.

Surprisingly you still get a top speed of 119mph from this model though getting to 62mph will take you over 11 seconds.

So SEAT haven't let anyone down with the performance side and certainly haven't with the additional space.

Boot space is particularly impressive and while the Leon is not top of the class it does command a medal place with an impressive moveable boot floor, easy folding rear seats and even a folding front passenger seat, just in case you need to carry the odd coffin.

Practical

The Leon shares the same chassis as Audi A3 and VW Golf, so solid handling is guaranteed, with a tight ride and responsive steering, though the ride is quite firm and was commented on by rear seat passengers. Inside this Leon is a genuine five seater with leg and head room to spare with the fascia taken from the earlier models. Like all SEAT's that means practical and simple.

The touch-screen control centre is well positioned and simple to operate, which is a real bonus when driving different cars each week. Often the week has gone by the time I have mastered the controls. Why can't they all be standard?

There's the same safety levels as on the rest of the range. That means seven airbags, stability control, emergency brake assist and a tyre pressure monitoring system.

You get active front head restraints to minimise whiplash, Isofix child-seat mounting points, remote central locking and an alarm which has helped SEAT record the maximum five stars in Euro NCAP crash tests.

The test car came complete with LED headlamps and DAB digital radio, heated front seats, heated front washers, rain sensing wipers, light sensors and electric folding door mirrors.

I was impressed by the automatic light dipping system, which must be a big must for all manufacturers, and the driver pack, which includes lane assist.

You get Bluetooth, USB input, air-con, colour touchscreen, wheel-mounted audio controls and electric front windows, so you get quite a bit for your money.

It also had 17" alloys and tinted rear windows, all of which totalled £3,330 and helped the price up to £22,825.

The big competition will probably come from Skoda and Golf and SEAT is the cheaper option.

I've become a bit of a SEAT fan over the years and I can't say that I'm anything but impressed by this latest addition.

The Power to Surprise

Drivetime

Motorsport pedigree is obvious with the Nismo RS

With more power, a sharper chassis, stronger brakes and extra equipment, the new Nissan Juke Nismo RS builds on the existing and hugely popular Nissan Juke Nismo to create a more extreme version of the top-selling compact crossover.

Like every Nismo model, the RS is infused with motorsport inspired design, aerodynamics and engineering to deliver thrilling performance and handling in a road car.

"With Nissan Juke Nismo already accounting for three per cent of all Juke sales in Europe, the enthusiasts' desire for more performance is clearly there. The new Nismo RS version offers just that and cements Nismo's reputation as creators of digital age performance," said Guillaume Cartier, senior vice-president, sales and marketing for Nissan in Europe.

Benefiting from Nismo's extensive global motorsport experience, the Nismo RS's advanced 1.6-litre DIG-T engine has been fine-tuned to boost power to 218PS from 200PS while torque in two-wheel drive/manual transmission versions is increased from an already healthy 250Nm to 280Nm.

To ensure the chassis can successfully transfer the extra torque to the road, 2WD models also benefit from the addition of a mechanical limited slip differential on the driven front wheels.

An LSD is not required in four-wheel drive versions which have Torque Vectoring, Nissan's Xtronic transmission and 250Nm of torque. Xtronic transmission models now feature standard-fit steering wheel-mounted paddle shifts to control the eight-speed manual mode.

The performance gains are matched by an improved soundtrack with a retuned exhaust system providing a sportier engine note thanks to a large diameter muffler.

Other improvements linked to the increased engine performance include strategic body strengthening to increase torsional stiffness still further, while the brakes have been enhanced for even better resistance to fade under repeated hard use – front disk size has increased from 296mm to 320mm, while the rear discs are now ventilated. Revised spring and damper settings complete the chassis changes.

Suede

The Juke Nismo RS is set apart with red brake callipers and discreet 'RS' badging on the front and rear. Inside, the RS logo appears in the rev counter while a distinctive suede wrap covers the instrument binnacle. The final finishing touch inside is an unusual water print finish on the shift knob/paddle shifters and the central cluster.

Options on the RS include special Recaro sports 'bucket' seats, Xenon headlamps, Nissan's Around View Monitor and Safety Shield which includes lane departure warning, blind spot warning and moving object detection, giving visual and audible warnings to avoid potential collisions.

New Juke Nismo RS is available in a choice of three exterior colours – White Pearl, Black Metallic and Silver Grey – with a single bespoke interior treatment: the predominantly black Nismo cabin.

The Nismo RS's aerodynamic exterior has lower front and rear bumpers, wider wings and sill side skirts, plus a dark chrome V-motion grille – complete with Nissan's new brand signature – and tailgate spoiler to better control airflow. Developed using experience gained on the racetrack, the aerodynamic upgrades reduce front and rear lift without increasing drag.

The Nismo treatment continues inside with a performance-oriented steering wheel, pedals, gauges, gear knob and door trims. Special suede-trimmed Nismo sports seats with red stitching provide extra support and comfort during cornering.

The Nismo RS also benefit from a number of further changes introduced across the entire new Juke range. The most obvious external changes include redesigned upper lamps, revised 'boomerang' tail lamps and door mirrors which incorporate LED side turn strip repeaters.

Despite its performance potential, the Juke Nismo remains highly practical.

WILLIS

Graham James

Husband and Dad

Passed away suddenly on February 24, 2014, aged 78 years.

Funeral was held on March 6, 2014, at Stafford Crematorium.

We didn't know that morning the sorrow the day would bring, when your golden heart stopped beating and we couldn't do a thing.

A million times we've thought of you, a million times we've cried, if love could have saved you, you would never have died.

Love you always, God bless.

Ceil, Andrew, Tracie and Nigel.

19.04.1930 - 19.02.2014

We saw you suffer, heard you sigh, all we could do was sit by. When the time came we suffered too but you never deserved what you went through.

We never said goodbye perhaps it's just as well, for we could never say goodbye to the one we loved so well.

Your heart is now still, your pain released but our love goes on and on.

Your work is over, you will toil no more, for all of us you did your best, may God grant you eternal rest.

Your loving Wife Joan, Sons Robert, Alan, Roger, Ian, Paul and William, Daughters Jean, Elaine and Sheila, Son-in-law Alan, Daughters-in-law Jackie, Lisa, Kerrie and Bec.

NOTICE TO READERS

Please be aware that when purchasing a puppy there are some simple guidelines you can follow to ensure that you are not purchasing from a Puppy Farmer:

1. Try to ensure you visit the puppy whilst it is still with its Mother.

2. Do not arrange to collect a puppy from any other location than that of the breeder.

3. Ensure that you are given any
KC documentation, if pedigree.
With KC documentation, KC's Association publications take great care to avoid publication of advertisements from Puppy
Farmers we cannot accept any liability should readers purchase from this kind of establishment.

ROAD TRAFFIC REGULATION ACT 1984

TRAFFIC MANAGEMENT ACT 2004

The Staffordshire County Council (Cannock Chase) (Civil Enforcement of Parking) (Prohibition and Restriction of Waiting and Loading and Parking Places) (Conversion) Order 2009 (Amendment) No. 16/20xx

1. Staffordshire County Council propose to make a Traffic Order under Sections 1, 2, 4, 32, 35, 45, 46, 47, 53, 124 (1)(d) of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984, and the Traffic Management Act 2004 which will:

(a) prevent you from parking your vehicle at any time on the following lengths of roads:

Sheep Fair, Rugeley (north side) – from a point approximately 16 metres south east of the junction with Lion Street, Rugeley in a north westerly direction for a distance of approximately 32 metres.

Lion Street, Rugeley (both sides) – from its junction with Sheep Fair in a north easterly direction for a distance of approximately 6 metres.

2. Exceptions will permit waiting for the purposes of taking up and setting down passengers; loading or unloading goods; for vehicles displaying a Disabled Person's Badge; and where necessary in connection with the maintenance of roads and the supply of gas, electricity, telephones, sewerage services and water and in the service of the Environment Agency; for emergency service vehicles; for vehicles being used for the provision of a universal postal service by a universal service provider; for buses waiting at an authorised bus stop; for vehicles being used for floods defence works or land drainage works; and for so long as is reasonably necessary in connection with any wedding or funeral.

3. This Order will amend the Staffordshire County Council (Cannock Chase) (Civil Enforcement of Parking) (Prohibition and Restriction of Waiting and Loading and Parking Places) (Conversion) Order 2009.

4. This Order will be called the Staffordshire County Council (Cannock Chase) (Civil Enforcement of Parking) (Prohibition and Restriction of Waiting and Loading and Parking Places) (Conversion) Order 2009 (Amendment) No. 16/20xx.

5. This Order will amend the Plan marked BU 209 incorporating waiting restrictions on those roads specified in Article No. 1 above and which form part of the Staffordshire County Council (Cannock Chase) (Civil Enforcement of Parking) (Prohibition and Restriction of Waiting and Loading and Parking Places) (Conversion) Order 2009.

6. Full details of these proposals are in the draft Order which, together with a map showing the restricted areas and a statement of the County Council's reasons for proposing to make the Order, may be inspected during normal office hours at the office of the Deputy Chief Executive & Director for Place; and during normal opening hours at Rugeley Library, Anson Street, Rugeley, Staffordshire or via the internet at www.staffordshire.gov.uk/trafficregulationorders.

Hayes are left lacking despite an early goal

Heath Hayes 1
Colehill Town 2

HEATH Hayes' lack of strength in depth was again exposed as injuries to key players resulted in a poor performance making relegation from the Midland Alliance a real threat.

Both teams struggled to put together any decent play on a tricky surface hampered by a strong wind in a game lacking any passion or intensity.

Hayes took the lead on 15 minutes when a cross from Liam Deville caused confusion in the Town defence and young fullback Will Worthington, trying to head the ball back to his keeper Paul Hathaway, only succeeded in finding the corner of the net.

Worthington atoned for his earlier mistake producing a quality in-swinging delivery which Dan Douglas headed home from right under the far post.

Tymon set up Town's winner through Ryan Nash for a strike on goal. Goodwin did well to keep out the first shot but Dean Rathbone, totally unmarked, fired home the rebound.

Late own goal points the way

Walsall 1 Crewe 1

IT wasn't the win they wanted, but in the context of the game this was a welcome point for Walsall.

On a night when a minute's applause marked the passing of John Christie, Walsall's goalkeeper in the back to back 1960 and '61 promotion sides, Dean Smith's side failed time and again to test Crewe's custodian Ben Garratt.

Trailing to Chucks Aneke's 51st minute goal, the Saddlers looked from that point destined for a fifth straight defeat.

But with the 90 minutes almost up, Crewe defenders Mark Ellis seemingly took pity and did the job for the hosts, planting a firm header past his own keeper from substitute Milan Lalkovic's cross.

The latter then almost snatched an improbable win for the hosts in four minutes of stoppage time. However Garratt was able to get the faintest of touches to tip his drive onto the bar.

Late blow ends firsts' hope of victory

Cannock Mens 1sts 2
East Grinstead 1sts 3

EAST Grinstead dispossessed Cannock dallying on the ball in defence and took the first goal with an Andy Piper strike. This was quickly cancelled out four minutes later when Cannock's in-form striker, Nick Bandurak, found the net.

The game remained an even contest until GB talisman Ashley Jackson found himself in space to unleash a flick into the roof of the net from a narrow angle. As the game drew to a close the tension built and small details started to make a difference. East Grinstead lost one of their GB players to a broken and very bloody nose. Cannock's pressure gave them four penalty corners to East Grinstead's one, but the final conversion was lacking.

Then on 51 minutes Martin Ebbage pounced on a loose ball to even the score. Another GB stalwart from the East Grinstead team had a rush of blood to the head and had his yellow card upgraded to a red when his stick-throwing antics struck the third official.

Against 10 men and with only minutes remaining Cannock failed to run the clock or keep possession and with less than a minute to play East Grinstead managed to find the winning goal.

Next weekend see Cannock play two home games – a league game against Surbiton on Saturday and semi-final of the NOW Pensions Cup against Sevenoaks on Sunday.

Cannock 2 Loughborough 1

There was more success for the two Cannock cup sides. The mixed side travelled to Loughborough. They began competently moving the ball around well. Loughborough Town proved to be very capable but Cannock had the ascendancy and eventually took the lead through Lewis Jecketts.

They soon doubled their lead when Jecketts tipped-in a penalty corner but Loughborough Town hit back with a fine finish from a corner of their own and Cannock were grateful to keeper Ollie Balcombe making some good saves.

The Masters Over 40s Team took on Bristol-based Robinsons who had beaten them in the final Telford 2-1.

last year. Cannock dutifully took their revenge and emerged as 1-0 winners to progress to the semi-finals.

In the Midlands Leagues the 2nds and 3rds cemented their second places with a 4-1 win over Belper and a 6-1 win over Barford Tigers respectively. The 4ths and 5ths were less fortunate. The 4s narrowly lost to West Bridgford 2-1 and the 5s suffered a 11-3 defeat to Northampton Saints.

The 7ths put themselves into a promotion spot with a 1-0 win over Barford Tigers and the 6s progressed up the league beating Telford 2-1.

Brace by Pettitt puts Rangers through

Cannock Chase Football League

Aero City Cup-semi-final RUGELEY Rangers knocked out Pear Tree 3-2 AET. Carling Pettitt got his second goal in extra time.

Premier League Cup semi-final Bottom side Hawkins Sports pulled off a cup upset by knocking out title-chasing Ridware Oak 3-1 on penalties.

Breerton Town Cup quarter final

First division Poets Corner knocked out Rugeley Utd out of the Premier League 4-1. They now play Bolt Road in the semi-finals.

Premier League

Leaders Littleton beat Brereton Town 4-0. Red, White and Blues beat Belt Road 5-4. Yates Sports drew 0-0 with Dynamo Lamb.

Division One

Leaders Harrisons beat TNT 3-2 to go 10 points clear. Chase Spartans fought back from a goal down to beat Nelson Inn 2-1. Bar Sport beat second placed CK77, 5-4.

Division Two

Ollys' beat Hawkins Inex 5-1. Lea Hall beat Vic Ath. 3-2. Colliers Arms beat Tralfalgar 7-0. Cheslyn Hay drew 1-1 with the Slade.

We need first strike – Brandy

FEBIAN BRANDY says Walsall are paying the price for slow starts after their winless run continued against Crewe.

The winger felt the Saddlers did not show enough urgency until they fell a goal behind six minutes into the second half, when Chunks Aneke opened the scoring for the visitors.

Despite Mark Ellis' own goal salvaging a point after the hosts had pushed hard for a leveller, Brandy believes they must be ready to go from the first whistle.

"I think we went a goal down and that's when we perked up," he said. "No team should be doing that."

"I think that is something we need to sit down and talk about. We need to be on the front foot early doors rather than waiting to go behind."

The Saddlers have not led a game since Brandy put them ahead at Notts County back on January 25.

Wolves secure a place in history

Swindon 1 Wolves 4

WOLVES achieved their place in history on Tuesday night, but the moment wasn't as unblemished as their winning record.

The opening 45 minutes were so good that if Carlisle did first halves...you know the rest, writes Tim Nash.

A breathtaking display and scintillating football ensured they were three goals to the good and a ninth straight win for the first time in the club's history was assured.

The French connection of Bakary Sako and Nouha Dicko gave Wolves a 3-0 half-time advantage in the most focused, dominant and hungry 45 minutes of the season to date. Then Wolves took their foot off the gas and allowed Swindon back into the game.

Leon Clarke got off the mark against his old club, but there was a flatness in the second-half display which led to a first goal conceded in 680 minutes after six consecutive clean sheets.

Dicko was booked for pushing Brazilian defender Raphael Rossi-Franco and Sako escaped punishment when Rossi-Franco accused him of spitting.

But it would be sad if Wolves' place in the record books was remembered only for those events especially as their football was such a delight to watch.

Jackett builds for the future

KENNY Jackett says he is building today's Wolves team for tomorrow - if they can complete their promotion quest.

The Molineux head coach isn't taking anything for granted in the race for automatic promotion, with neither themselves, Leyton Orient and Brentford blinking in a relentless accumulation of wins.

But while keen to divorce himself from any premature triumphalism, he believes if Wolves go up this season, he has players able to survive and thrive in a higher grade of football.

"If we can be successful this year there may not be too many who have made their name in the Championship, but the big thing is they have the ability to do that and the desperation and hunger to do it," said Jackett. Wolves currently top League One.

FIRSTS dominate but fail to net the points

Cannock Ladies 1sts 0 Leicester 2nds 1

THIS was just one of those days for Cannock in the Midlands Premier League. Cannock dominated possession from the start and aside from one early half-chance, Leicester fought hard to hang on. Results elsewhere mean Cannock need two points from their last three matches to secure promotion back to the National League.

Towcester 1sts 2 Cannock Ladies 2nds 2

FOLLOWING the great result on Sunday Cannock were looking to find the win they wanted in the league. Cannock started strong and pressed high up the pitch and were rewarded when Sophie Tibbets intercepted the ball in Towcester's D and put Cannock ahead in the first 10 minutes. Cannock were caught out on the counter which saw Towcester equalise before half time. Cannock continued to battle but full-back Judy Hitchens had to come off injured and Towcester took the lead. Cannock ladies Seconds face Chelmsford this Sunday at home in the semi-finals of the England Hockey plate. The game starts 11.30am.

Cannock Ladies 3rds 3 Tamworth 2nds 0

Cannock managed to get two goals before half time but yet again struggled to put away many chances. Having most of the game play and many short corners! The second half saw Cannock get another goal. Final score 3-0 Lucy Black 2, Holly Dean. Player of the match went to Hannah Cole.

Cannock Ladies 4ths 4 Tamworth 3rds 2

Cannock hosted Tamworth, who were yet to lose a game this season and took the visitors by surprise with the first goal. Tamworth fought back and moments later the equalised, this was repeated 2-2 half time. In the second half Cannock kept the pressure on and earned two more goals. Final score Cannock 4-Tamworth 2, goal scorers:

Defeat follows a layoff

Willenhall Town 0
Malvern Town 2

IN their first home game for 12 weeks, The Lockmen stumbled to defeat due to two debatable decisions.

The home side threatened first as Jake Morgan was played through on goal, but replacement keeper Charles Weaver came out bravely to save at his feet. Tom Rann then fired high and wide on 17 minutes before the visitors became more of a force. The Reds were second best after the break. Dave Reynolds hit the post on 48 minutes but they had no real chances until Matt Dorgan's last ditch goal-saving challenge was punished by a free-kick for deliberate hand-ball as he sprawled across the floor. Louis Loader stepped up to take the free-kick and fired low into the far corner for the opener. In the third minute of stoppage time two Malvern players were allowed to break clear on goal as both stood offside in the Willenhall half with all Willenhall players in the opponents half. Lee Hooper was the man who raced onto the ball, rounded Wright and slotted home. This Saturday Willenhall meet Lye Town 3pm kick-off.

Saddlers mourn keeper Christie

WALSALL are mourning the death of former goalkeeper John Christie, who helped the club to back-to-back promotions in 1960 and 1961.

The Scot has died in Hampshire at the age of 84. A club statement said: "Everyone here at Walsall Football Club would like to pass on our sincere condolences to his family."

The Chronicle, a Midland News Association Ltd publication, printed by the company at Ketley, Telford. Thursday, March 13.

WHOLLY TRINITY AS PITMEN LOSE

A STUTTERING Hednesford Town side slipped to their second successive league defeat with a 3-1 reverse against Gainsborough Trinity.

Although Hednesford remain in third place in the Skrill North, with others around them winning and having games in hand it now means

Town will have to try and turn around their form quickly if they are to make the end of season play-offs.

Despite this it was actually the hosts who got off to the better start with Neil Harvey forcing two good reaction saves from Phil Barnes in the Trinity goal inside the opening 13 minutes.

However, as time wore on the visitors came more into it and Dan Crane in the Hednesford goal was forced to make a smart save from Gainsborough's Jamie Wootton to keep the score at 0-0.

Defenders

This wouldn't last long though as in the 24th minute Trinity would take the lead. A free kick into the box wasn't dealt with by Crane and midfielder Curtis Bateson was on hand to lob the ball over both the keeper and two defenders, into the net.

Rob Smith was clearly not happy with how his team were playing though and made two attacking changes midway through the half as he looked to find a way back into the game. This they managed to do in the 44th minute when substitute

Nathan Woolfe got to the by-line and his cross was eventually stabbed home by Harvey following a goal-mouth scramble.

The second period saw Hednesford come out of the blocks quickly in search of a second goal and they almost found it when Jamey Osborne won a free kick 20 yards out; but Woolfe's effort was pushed away by Barnes before being cleared away to safety.

Despite plenty of possession, and the lively play of Charlie Anagho-Ntamark, there was little in the form of clear goal scoring chances for Town, with Trinity continuing to defend stoutly. With 21 minutes left to play Gainsborough would hand out a sucker-punch to the home side though as they retook the lead. A free kick into the box was missed by everyone except Margretts who controlled the ball excellently before firing home past Crane with his second.

As Hednesford threw men forward in search of an equaliser they were caught on the counter when Margretts was played in and he calmly finished through Crane's legs to round off an impressive result for Trinity.

Pitmen's Paul Sullivan is beaten to the ball but manages to earn the corner against Gainsborough
